Newspaper Men's Visit.

Last Sunday morning the representatives of the New England Newspaper league who are making a tour of the South arrived at Southern Pines in their special car. They were met by a committee of the citizens of our sister city and shown about the place, and during their stay were entertained at the Piney Woods Inn.

In the afternoon a committee of our villagers went to Southern Pines by special car and escorted the scribes to Pinehurst. On their arrival here they stopped off at the Holly Inn, where they were met by a committee consisting of Supt. Benbow and the managers of the several hotels and boarding houses, who gave them a hearty welcome. After being shown about the Inn the visitors were conducted to the different points of interest in the village, finally bringing up at the golf links where they sampled the carbonated drinks manufactured from the water of the Pinehurst springs.

At 6 o'clock the party returned to the Berkshire where the scribes were introduced to a number of the prominent guests, and after a short rest were escorted to the dining room and partook of one of Landlord Peck's famous suppers.

After supper the plant of THE OUTLOOK and the Department Store were inspected and then the party assembled in Supt. Benbow's office where cigars were enjoyed until 8 o'clock, when all attended the concert in the music room at Holly Inn.

At 10 o'clock the scribes returned to Southern Pines, where their special car was attached to the midnight train going North. They were to spend Monday in Raleigh.

The party consisted of Messrs. C. F. King, J. W. Reardon, W. H. Ross, E. P. Critcher, Frank Hendry, F. M. West, Frank H. Grader and A. H. Rhodes, who represent eleven of the most influential newspapers of New England. They are a very gentlemanly set of men and will no doubt be warmly welcomed wherever they go. Their descriptions of the South with its great natural advantages and grand opportunities for profitable investment cannot fail to interest the Northern capitalists.

Visitors From Raeford.

Several weeks ago a large party of our Northern guests made an excursion to Raeford academy in Cumberland county and were hospitably entertained by the teachers and pupils there. Last Wednesday the teachers and pupils at the academy and the people of that neighborhood to the number of about one hundred and fifty paid a return visit to Pinehurst, coming by special train. On the arrival of the party at 11 o'clock the members scattered over the village and spent the time in sight-seeing until the dinner hour when they spread their lunch in the Pine Grove. Supt. Benbow kindly furnished hot coffee for the party. After dinner sightseeing was again in order, and many enjoyed a ride on the trolley car to Southern Pines.

At 2.30 o'clock a meeting was held in the Village Hall to welcome the visitors in a formal manner. Rev. Dr. E. E. Hale of Boston, who is here on his annual visit, represented Mr. Tufts and welcomed the visitors to Pinehurst. He gave the scholars a very instructive talk on the duties of life and their future responsibilities as citizens of our great country, and Mr. McLaughlin of Raeford responded in a well delivered speech.

Mr. Rogers read the "Parson's Courtship," to the delight of the young people, and Prof. Currie gave a history of the Raeford academy. Mr. Augustus A. McDonald, a scholar from this neighborhood, told of the great efforts the boy or girl in this sparsely settled country must make if they desired to get an education. He spoke from experience. Misses Florence and Emily Letien sang, Master Louis Letien spoke his little piece and the Raeford children sang.

Dr. Hale closed the exercises by announcing the national hymn "America," and told how he had heard it sung in Boston when a little boy.

Announcement was made that the "Dr. Edward E. Hale Educational Fund" had already done some good. It had sent a little girl to Raeford academy for the remainder of the term and provided tuition for two small boys at the Pinehurst school. After the meeting a lady in the audience offered to send another little girl to the academy and some worthy girl will be sent in a few days. All donations of money, clothes, books, etc., can be sent to the Dr. Hale Educational Fund, care of Supt. Benbow, and they will be properly expended.

Our visitors departed for home about 4 o'clock well pleased with the trip to our village.

Made for Two.

Mrs. Hambus—I wish I knew what to get my husband for Christmas this year. He doesn't smoke; I haven't heard him mention any books that he wants, and there is positively nothing I can think of that would be likely to just catch his fancy.

Mrs. Wadsleigh—Why not buy him a nice diamond stickpin? You could always find use for that, you know.—Cleveland Leader.

THE OUTLOOK for 3 mos. only 25c.
