A new office building, special seed room and large addition to the greenhouse are among the improvements recently made at the Nurseries.

The trolley car made its first trip of the season last Wednesday. Conductor Stillings manipulates the punch, and the motors are in charge of Mr. Theo. B. Hollingsworth.

Mr. John W. Adams will form a class for studying Spanish during the winter. Mr. Adams resided in South America for a number of years and is well qualified as an instructor.

J. M. Robinson of North Reading, Mass., whose management of the Concord was so pleasing to his guests last winter, has leased both the Concord and Lenox for the coming season.

Our superintendent of streets, Mr. Louis Letien, has paid particular attention to the planted spaces about the village during the summer, and the shrubbery and vines are looking better than ever before.

Little four-year-old Ethel Scott strolled into the Department Store a few days since, and was looking at the confectionery exposed for sale, when she was accosted by the storekeeper, who inquired if she liked candy. After replying in the affirmative she waited a few moments; but seeing no motion made to gratify her desires, she piped up: "I doan like any one tell me dat, 'less dey's gwine ter gib me some." Of course that brought the candy.

New Line to Florida.

The Seaboard Air Line will open up its new line to Florida about the first of the year. This new line is said to be about fifty miles shorter than any existing line between New York and Tampa. Through vestibuled trains will be run between New York and Tampa, and the S. A. L. has contracted with the Pullman company for four new vestibuled trains to be used for this service. These trains will run from New York to Quantico over the Pennsylvania railroad. Tickets allowing passengers to stop over at Pinehurst may be obtained on this line.

Lost Their Lunch.

Last Sunday morning our genial superintendent piloted a small and select party to Thagardsville for a day's outing. A dainty lunch, prepared by Manager McAlpine at the Casino, was taken along, and the trip to the beautiful grove was made without incident. On their arrival the horse was hitched and the lunch was left reposing in the back of the wagon while the party strolled about among the grand old trees and along the shores of the charming little lake. When the dinner hour came around all returned to the team with sharpened appetites, prepared to do ample justice to the good things provided. But on their arrival they found that they were not the only ones whose hunger had been quickened by a ramble in the piney woods; for during their absence a ravenous razorback had clambered into the wagon and devoured not only the lunch, but a large portion of the basket, as well. But for their timely appearance on the scene the team also might have disappeared in the capacious maw of the pine-rooter. The next time this party makes a trip to Thagard's they intend to carry the lunch in a burglar-proof safe of the latest model.

Learn Spanish.

This language has a musical sound, is almost perfectly phonetic, and is being acquired to great extent in recent years. The greater part of our twin continent is inhabited by Spanish speaking people. Our newly acquired possessions in the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico should give an added interest to the study of Spanish. Pinehurst guests will have an opportunity to become familiar with this language this winter, as instruction will be given by the undersigned at fifty cents a lesson.

H. H. POWELL, Prop. and Sec'y of Club.

If you are fond of field sports and want to have a good time, come down into the piney woods and join us in chasing the fox in the morning, quail and turkey shooting in the afternoon, and coon and opossum hunting at night. Bring along your fishing tackle, too, and we will give you some rare sport. We have well trained dogs for each kind of game, and we have lots of game. Our pack of 12 fox hounds are very fine—second to no pack in the South.
