CLEVER LITTLE WIFE.

A young wife bought an oyster plant and set it out to grow.
Quoth she, "Twill please my husband, who does love oysters so!
And when the oyster season comes I'll go out every day
And pick a bushel basketful, with not a cent to pay.
Oh, he shall sup on Saddlerocks, for which he has a craze,
Or Millponds, Bluepoints, Shrewsburys, or even Rockaways,
And he will be so grateful and full of joy, to see How very economical his little wife can be!"
—Life.

The latest addition to our list of exchanges is Trojan's Notion, a religious

Tickets for stations on the Aberdeen & Asheboro railroad, and to all points north and east, via the Southern railway, can be purchased at the Pinehurst postoffice. One of the most pleasing social events of the season was a chafing-dish supper given on Friday evening by Miss Florence Warden of Worcester to about twenty of her friends. A contest on the names of different trees was one of the features of the evening, Mrs. Pomroy of Hartford and Mrs. Smith of Worcester each winning Pinehurst souvenir spoons as prizes.

Squire Bunnell was requested to act as associate justice in holding the court, and all the interested parties and the witnesses arrived in the village ready for court to convene. Shortly before the trial was to commence Jackson and Armstrong got together and came to a satisfactory settlement of the affair, each paying part of the costs and the case was nol-prossed. Both parties in the dispute are colored.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Judge J. W. Hammond of the Massachusetts Supreme court arrived at Holly Inn last Friday. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Clara M. Hammond, and they will remain here for the winter. This is their second season in our village, and they found many old friends to welcome them on their return here.

It is not easy to find good golf courses in the South, but there is an excellent one of eighteen holes at Pinehurst, in North Carolina, and the game is in full swing there just now. Among the women to be seen on the links every day is Mrs. Edward Manice, of the Pittsfield Country club, one of the best players in the country. Mrs. Manice was picked by the knowing ones as a likely winner of the woman's championship at Philadelphia, but was disqualified through accepting the assistance of her caddie.—Town Topics, Jan. 25th.
