

VARDON HERE.

The Champion Golfer Plays on the Pinehurst Links Today.

Harry Vardon, champion golfer of the world, arrived in the village last evening, accompanied by his manager, Charles S. Cox of New York, and was provided with accommodations at Holly Inn. He is playing against Tucker and Hallock, the two local professionals, on the Pinehurst Links at 10 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. today.

On Saturday last Mrs. E. A. Manice broke the ladies' record for the Pinehurst Links, making the 18-hole course in 97. Her score was as follows:

1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9
Out—4, 5, 4, 5, 4, 5, 7, 4, 5—43
10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18
In—5, 4, 6, 5, 7, 5, 10, 4, 8—54
Total, 97

The following fine score was made by Mr. George C. Dutton of Boston last Wednesday. The number of strokes is the same as the best amateur record for the 18 holes, which was also made by Mr. Dutton, and equals the best professional record:

1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9
Out—4, 4, 4, 4, 3, 6, 5, 2, 5—37
10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18
In—5, 3, 4, 5, 7, 5, 7, 3, 5—44
Total, 81

The bunker of the first hole has been lengthened and heightened, making it more effective.

A Pleasant Card Party.

Last Friday evening the Berkshire parlors were the scene of a very enjoyable progressive whist party given by Mrs. F. E. Derbyshire of Boston. There were twelve tables, each numbered by a card in water colors, the work of Mesdames Richards and Richardson. The manner of choosing partners was a novel one. Each table was named for a well-known author and the score cards contained names of characters in some of these authors' works. When the cards were drawn each gentleman took for his partner the lady whose card bore the name of the character that corresponded with his, and they were seated at the table bearing their author's name—as the gentleman having the Romeo card would take for his partner the lady having Juliet card, and they would sit at Shakespeare table.

The prizes, with the exception of the gentlemen's consolation, were all china articles beautifully decorated by Mrs. G. M. Crosby of Boston. The prizes and winners were as follows: 1st ladies, bonbon dish, Mrs. G. M. Lamberton of Lincoln, Neb.; 2d ladies', pitcher, Mrs. J. D. Colt, of Chicago; 3d ladies', violet holder, Miss Besse Gilmore of Boston; ladies' consolation, china medicine spoon with card inscribed "Take your medicine in this," Mrs. John Fennell of Boston; 1st gentlemen's prize, cigar holder, Mr. F. B. Sammis of Bridgeport, Conn.; 2d gentlemen's prize, card case with pack of cards, Mrs. C. E. Morehouse of Fair Haven, Vt.; 3d gentlemen's prize, china baby shoe, Mr. John Fennell of Boston; gentlemen's consolation prize, match scratch with card inscribed "Scratch and hurry up," Mr. David Trubee of Bridgeport, Conn.

Choice Boston candies were served during the evening. The occasion was heartily enjoyed by all who had the good fortune to be present.

A Valuable Instrument.

Mr. Alfred Sommer of the Holly Inn orchestra has recently come into possession of a remarkably fine violoncello made by Ferdinando Gagliano, a famous instrument maker who resided in Naples from 1740 to 1780. 'Cellos of this make are now very rare, and possess a richness of tone that only age can give. They are therefore much sought after by musicians, and the fortunate possessor of one can rarely be persuaded to part with it at any price.

The story of the discovery of Mr. Sommer's 'cello is interesting. The instrument formerly belonged to an old Frenchman in Iowa, in whose family it had been for over a hundred years, and was used by him in playing at the country dances in the neighborhood where he lived. While riding home from one of these social gatherings a member of the party fell on the instrument and smashed it so badly that its owner despaired of having it repaired. Accordingly it was laid away among a lot of dirt and rubbish where it remained for a number of years. Mr. Sommer heard of the instrument and on going to see it at once recognized its true value, and having purchased it sent it to an expert to be repaired.

The 'cello arrived in Pinehurst about two weeks ago. Since then Mr. Sommer has used it at the concerts given by the orchestra in the music room at Holly Inn, and has delighted his audiences by the exquisite music that he draws from this sweet-toned instrument. Mr. Sommer possesses musical talent of a high order and the 'cello could hardly have fallen into better hands. The instrument is valued at several thousand dollars.

Progressive Whist.

The regular bi-weekly whist party was held in the Village Hall last Monday evening as usual, and was well attended. Seventeen tables were filled and the following were the fortunate winners of the prizes: 1st ladies' prize, a souvenir teapot, Mrs. D. H. Wheeler; 2d ladies' prize, piece of bric-a-brac, Mrs. Curtis; ladies' consolation prize, a sachet, Miss Esther Copeland; 1st gentlemen's prize, "Bandanna Ballads," a tie between Mr. Tom Barber and Mrs. Francis E. Higgins, and on the cut Mrs. Higgins lost and so took the second gentlemen's prize, a bag tag; gentlemen's consolation prize, box of chocolates, Mr. H. Grattan Donnelly. Mr. Donnelly was the winner of the first gentlemen's prize at the last village whist party.

During the evening ice cream and cake were served by the Holly Inn. Mesdames Stowe and Barber were the committee in charge of the arrangements and again proved fully equal to occasion. The affair was one of the pleasantest entertainments of the winter and all present are looking forward to the next with many happy anticipations.

Sunday Evening Concert.

The regular weekly concert by the Holly Inn orchestra was held in the music room at the Holly Inn last Sunday evening and was attended by the largest audience of the season. All the numbers on the program were well rendered, the vocal numbers being especially fine, and the 'cello solo by Mr. Sommer was heartily encored. A pleasing addition to the printed program was the vocal Enlightening Him.

The tendency of most doctrines is to be very narrow, and the loyalty for a particular church is "bred in the bone," as a certain little Memphis boy bears witness.

His mother was telling him of the childhood of Christ, and in the course of her story said that Christ was a Jew.

The little fellow looked up at her in wide-eyed astonishment and said in an awed voice:

"Why, mother I always thought that the Lord was a Presbyterian."—Memphis Scimitar.
