AT SUNNY PINEHURST.

If you are seeking a winter resort in a sunny clime,

To pass your leisure moments and enjoy the time,
You had better go, not last, but first,
To the beautiful town known to many—Pinehurst.

The sports you will find none can compare,
And you are sure to breathe most beautiful air,
For it comes from the land of the long-leaf pine—
This is a thing you are sure to find.

One thing I will mention is the beautiful golf green;

Its equal in the South has never been seen.
The players are all excitement as they try hard to beat

A record made by Vardon, which was a wonderful feat.

The crowds that flock to this beautiful field
To enjoy the sports that it is bound to yield,
Will cause one to stop for a moment and think,
What a beautiful sight is the Pinehurst links.

Another sport I will call to your mind
And its equal I am sure is hard to find,
Astride of fine horses with no time to waste,
The sportsmen are going the fox to chase.

The horses are all prancing, a sight to behold,
But it has yet never had to be told
That they had to return without their prey
As they always return so cheerful and gay.

There are other sports which I haven't room to mention

But to these three I will call your attention;—
The games of croquet, quoits and tennis get their share

Of the leisure moments one has to spare.

As night draws near and you seek comfort and rest

You will retire to one of the hotels, which are of the best.

A person, no matter how particular he may be,
The comforts of the house quickly will see.

There is Mr. H. W. Priest managing the new Carolina,

Mr. Jas. K. Hyde's improvements make the Holly Inn much finer

Than it has ever been in the years of the past,
And Mr. Kimball and the Berkshire are growing very fast.

There is one more to whom I will call your attention,

And it gives me great pleasure in my poem to mention,

That this beautiful town will surely grow
With a man at the wheel like C. D. Benbow.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Clara Luria, of Newark, N. J., is a guest at the Lenox.

J. S. Funchess, of Richmond, registered at the Cedars, November 9th.

Mr. Colby, of Richmond, Va., registered at the Pine Grove House last week.

Mr. E. B. Bary, of Melrose, Mass., is at the Lenox, where he is regaining health and strength rapidly.

Miss H. E. Brandow and Miss A. N. Douglas, of Hunter, N. Y., have engaged a suite at the Tremont for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fowle, of Boston, occupy a suite at the Marlboro, which they have engaged for the season.

Mrs. Charles A. Crawford and Miss Grace Crawford are occupying a suite at the Marlboro, where they will spend the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eldridge, of Milford, Mass., occupy a suite at the Beacon and take their meals at the Casino.

Mr. and Mrs. John Albee, have taken a suite at the Tremont, where they have very pleasant quarters in which to spend the winter.

Miss C. M. Huntington, of Philadelphia, Pa., is at the Cedars. Miss Huntington is very much pleased with Pinehurst and will spend the season here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Carpenter are at the Waldheim Cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter are old residents and their return is welcomed by their large circle of friends.

The past week has brought many people to Pinehurst at the Casino. Dr. W. C. Benbow, of Greensboro, N. C.; Julia Nolan, of Fair Haven, Vt.; Miss Bessie Mumford, of West Rutland, Vt.; John Bettie, of Brandon, Vt.; and Frank H. Wheeler, of Sudbury, Vt., are recent arrivals.

Mr. Leonard Tufts and his brother-in-law, Mr. Jenney, of Boston, arrived in Pinehurst Saturday, and went directly to the Berkshire where they will make their home during their stay. All were glad to see Mr. Tufts again for they all know the deep interest he has in the welfare of this now famous winter resort which has been built up through the efforts of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Pottle, of Jefferson Highlands, N. H., arrived in Pinehurst November 9th, accompanied by a corps of help. Mr. Pottle is the genial proprietor of the Highland House in Jefferson and will manage the Magnolia House here this season. Already many guests are booked for the season as Mr. Pottle is very popular with all his guests.

Among the new arrivals registered at the Casino Saturday were Mr. James K. Hyde, of Sudbury Vt.; F. C. Miller, of Lowell, Mass.; N. J. Nicklaw, Forestdale, Vt.; Miss L. Quimby, Rutland, Vt.; E. L. Merrow, Bethel, N. H.; Miss Julia A. West, Boston, Mass.; N. Richardson, Gloucester, Mass.; Wm. A. McLeod, Medford, Mass. Mr. Hyde is the well known manager of the Holly Inn, which will be open for the accommodation of guests about Thanksgiving. Mr. Merrow, Miss West, Mr. Richardson and Mr. McLeod, have secured rooms at the Cedars.
