DEVELOPS CHARACTER!

Pinehurst's Changes Have Been Along This Important Line.

IMPROVEMENTS OF THE PAST SUMMER HAVE BEEN AMONG THE MOST IMPORTANT THAT HAVE EVER TAKEN PLACE.

PINEHURST has been a busy place this past summer, and even though the changes wrought may not be evident at the first or casual glance, they are, nevertheless, the most important that have taken place in the brief and remarkable transformation that has been made here from Desert to Oasis—the establishment of this unique New England village in the Southland.

The growth of the child is easily distinguished by all, even those in constant association with it, but later, this growth is barely noticeable to parents, best distinguished by those who see it from time to time. And at last, it becomes scarcely noticeable to the casual observer either in the family or without; only distinguishable by those who are closely associated and who look carefully. But this development of Character, going silently and invisibly on, suddenly blooms into maturity!

Thus it has been with this Village of the Southland. At first its rapid growth was a cause of wonder and admiration, alike to those closely connected and those outside. Then there came a time when the changes were best judged by those who came occasionally and who judged by comparison, and now the time has arrived when the development is most visible to those who are closely associated and who look carefully.

Pinehurst is developing Character; developing the quiet dignity which comes with maturity! And with this change it becomes a more admired and trusted friend and companion!

Probably the most important change has been the work carried on by Mr. George Simes, manager of the Sanitary Agency, successors to Frederick Tudor, Boston, Mass., and by which Pinehurst will be made Perfection from a Sanitary standpoint; perfection in accordance with the highest standards known in this age of scientific enlightenment. When the work is completed, every building in the Village will contain a certificate assuring the occupants to this effect. Nothing will be left undone that would complete the work, and as a result Pinehurst will stand alone in one more particular, as the Only Absolutely Healthy town, from a sanitary standpoint, in the World.

Mr. Simes has explained this work in detail, and the result is an interesting and instructive paper which will be found elsewhere in THE PINEHURST OUTLOOK.

Another important departure has been the establishing of the Pinehurst Shooting Preserves, comprising 30,000 acres of the best hunting territory in the section, easily accessible from the Village. Pinehurst fairly radiates healthfulness, not only to its inhabitants, but throughout the land. Its bright sunshine, beautiful scenery, clear air and pure water, make men and women of blood; men and women who love Nature and the sport she offers. The Pinehurst Golf Links gratifies these tastes in one particular, riding and driving offer another source, and now hunting is added to complete this Trinity of out-door enjoyment.

The hunting season is now at its best, and in consequence, a special article is devoted to the Pinehurst Preserves and the experiences of the first sportsmen to visit them.

The establishment of large Poultry and Dairy plants is another of the important additions, which is to add vastly to the cattle and poultry farms a simple matter.

The work of clearing land has progressed rapidly, and nearly one hundred and twenty-five acres have been added during the past six months, which will be used for soiling crops.

Particular attention has been given to the Golf Course, it having been seeded throughout with the end of providing a more perfect turf through the fair green.

The buildings of the Village are being repaired and repainted, and the work is now being pushed forward as fast as is consistent with thoroughness. The completed results are most marked.

Among the most important of the projected plans is the building of a new Public Casino, with a main building 200 feet square, the whole building having a total frontage of 600 feet. This building will be for the use of all the inhabitants of the Village. It will contain a swimming pool, 35 x 100 feet, with an average

MR. LEONARD TUFTS AND PARTY OF PROMINENT BOSTON SPORTSMEN OPEN SHOOTING SEASON—OTHER NOTES.

One of the notable additions to Pinehurst's attractions, made during the past summer, is the establishment of Pinehurst's Shooting Preserves. Sportsmen and sportswomen everywhere will welcome this announcement, for not only is the location the best obtainable and birds abundant, but in addition, the Village, with its hotels and cottages, provide accommodations to suit all tastes.

There was a time when men were content to "rough it" with good sport close at hand, but that day is past. Modern life has revolutionized old methods, and the successful shooting preserve of today must not only provide game in abundance, but suitable accommodations as well. In this particular, Pinehurst has no competitor, and its future, as a resort for sportsmen, bids fair to rival its popularity as a winter resort for those who seek rest, recreation and health.

Moore County and the section round about the Village of Pinehurst, has long been noted for its abundance of game: quail, turkey, deer and hares, and its quail are undeniably the largest in size and strongest of wing of their species. Realizing this and recognizing the constantly increasing tendency toward shooting, Mr. Leonard Tufts, owner of Pinehurst, has gradually acquired by purchase and lease, some 30,000 acres, nearly fifty square miles, of the best hunting territory in this section; forming what is without question, the largest private preserve under the control of one man, in the South.

To further perfect the scheme and increase the number of birds, large patches of cow peas, a hundred in all, have been established at stated intervals throughout the preserve. These were planted last year and left unharvested, as food for the quail, and of which they are passionately fond. In addition, stocking will be indulged in liberally in order that the supply of game may be more than usually abundant, amply able to keep ahead of the drain made upon it by the hunters.

The Preserves are under the general management of Dr. C. D. Jones of Milton, N. H. In connection with the Preserves are the Pinehurst Kennels, under the direct supervision of Mr. Alliston Gray, who as a trainer and guide at the High Point (N. C.) Kennels, has had a long and valuable association with sportsmen from all parts of the country. Twenty-two blooded dogs in all are at physical enjoyments of the inhabitants of the Village. Here will be kept a large herd of graded cattle to supply fresh milk and cream, fresh eggs and poultry. Eventually it is intended that these plants shall supply the entire demands of the Village.

Agricultural experiments have been conducted upon the farm, some 60 acres having been under cultivation during the past summer, and it is found that cow peas and corn may be grown in abundance. Particularly gratifying results were found in the raising of corn, some patches averaging from twelve to fifteen feet in height, thus proving that knowledge only is required to make this section a garden spot. Both corn and cow peas are excellent food for cattle and poultry, and the ease with which they may be supplied makes the provision of food for depth of 6 feet, reading and game rooms, and a full equipment of indoor amusements: Billiards, bowling, ping-pong, basket ball and the like.

New water works are also to be established upon a much larger scale to supply the increasing demands of the Village, occasioned by present and prospective needs.

An addition to The Harvard is to be made which will double its capacity, for which plans for immediate work are in readiness.

The ultimate plan is to heat all the buildings of the Village from the power house by steam, but this work has not been carried out, owing to the fact that the coming water works extension and other changes made it seem advisable to postpone this work until it could be done with a view to greater permanency.
