A RED HOT CONTEST!

Shoot for the Leonard Tufts' Trophy is a Rattling One.

C. A. Lockwood Wins with Sixty-Five
With Arthur C. Ketcham only one Behind--Some Excellent

Shooting.

The fifth shoot in the winters' stated program of handicap trap shooting fixtures, fifty single and twenty double targets, shot Wednesday afternoon, for the Leonard Tufts cup, developed what is best described as a red hot contest. C. A. Lockwood, of New York city, who had a handicap allowance of twelve birds, won the cup with a total score of sixty-five, and Arthur C. Ketcham of New York city, who had a handicap allowance of eighteen birds, was a close second with a total of sixty-four. M. H. Wilson of Cleveland, O., who had a handicap allowance of twelve birds, was third, with a total of sixty-one, and C. H. Stanley, of Cleveland, O., and A. E. Lard, of St. Joseph, Mo., scratch men, finished with sixty-two and sixty birds, respectively. Frank Presbrey of New York city, who had a handicap allowance of eighteen birds, finished with a total of sixty, tying with Lard.

Lockwood secured ten out of his handicap allowance of twelve; all of his singles, eight birds, and two of his doubles, four birds. Ketcham broke eleven out of twelve in his single bird allowance, and four out of six in his double bird allowance, or in other words he broke fifty-three out of a possible fifty on his string of singles. Wilson broke seven out of eight on his handicap allowance of singles and three out of four of his allowance on doubles. Presbrey broke ten out of his handicap allowance of twelve singles, and three out of four of his handicap allowance of six doubles.

It will readily be seen that something in the way of a surprise came when the handicap men shot at their extra allowance of birds.

The detailed scores of the five leaders were as follows:
