CLEVER IMPERSONATIONS!

Book Party at The Holly Inn Provides Enjoyable Evening.

Large and Merry Company Study Difficult Riddles--Those Who Took Part and Their Books.

THE informal social events, which are always a delightful feature of life at The Holly Inn, were begun Thursday evening with a "Book Party" in which the guests of The Inn, The Harvard and many of the cottagers participated; a large and merry company which comfortably filled the Dutch Room. Many clever conceptions were seen in the various representations of popular books, and all entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. Mr. Creamer proved himself a genial host and Mrs. Creamer a charming hostess.

The first part of the evening was devoted to consideration of the various books represented and a social half-hour and dancing followed while the judges were making their decisions. There were prizes for the best representations and for the largest number of correct guesses.

Among the cleverest of the impersonations were those worn by Mr. J. Henry Hentz, Jr., of Philadelphia, Mr. C. B. Ryan of Portsmouth, Va., and A. G. Warren of Rochester, N. Y. In making the award the committee resorted to a draw, which Mr. Hentz won.

Mr. Hentz wore a card bearing two half dollars at the top, and below it a golf hole standard bearing the figure two, resting in a hole in which a golf ball was visible: two halves and two holed; "To Have and to Hold."

Mr. Ryan wore a large letter D, resting on a key, a Holly Inn bill, and the letter T:D on key owe (bill) T; "Don Quixote."

Mr. Warren carried a pocket flask in which there was something stronger than spring water, the fumes of which the inquisitive were allowed to inhale; "A Terrible Temptation."

A decision concerning the women was equally difficult, and the representations of Mrs. Calvert Townley of New York, Mrs. A. I. Creamer of The Inn, and Mrs. F. H. Abbott of The Harvard were declared equally good. In the draw Mrs. Townley won the prize.

Mrs. Abbott walked about a large placard inscribed, "The Harvard;" "Around my House."

Mrs. Creamer carried a tennis ball, golf ball and shot gun cartridge in her hand; "The Game at Pinehurst," one of the new Pinehurst booklets.

Mrs. Townley, wore the last page of a book, bearing the word "Finis;" "The Last Leaf."

Miss Marguerite A. Day of West Newton, Mass., Miss May E. Freeman of Bridgeport Conn., and Mrs. Emery Marvel, of Atlantic City, N. J., were tied for the largest number of correct guesses among the women with 17 each, and in the draw Miss Day won.

Mr. M. M. Fry, of Lancaster, Pa., and Mr. F. Walter Hentz of Philadelphia, tied for the men's prize with 16 each; Mr. Hentz winning.

Many other novel conceptions were seen.

Mrs. J. Henry Hentz, Jr., wore a picture of an old mill; "The Mill on the Floss."

Mrs. George L. Sanderson of Williamsport, Pa., wore a rich gown of black lace relieved by a bit of lavender chiffon; "Lavender and Old Lace."

port, Conn., gowned in white muslin, stood together, each wearing a small figure two; "We Two."

Mrs. E. G. Hayes of Canandaigua, N. Y., and Mrs. L. M. Bowers of Binghampton, N. Y., wore gray cloaks; "The Gray Cloak."

Miss Elizabeth Macfarlane of Troy Hills, N. J., wore a dust pan and brush; "The Woman who Toils."

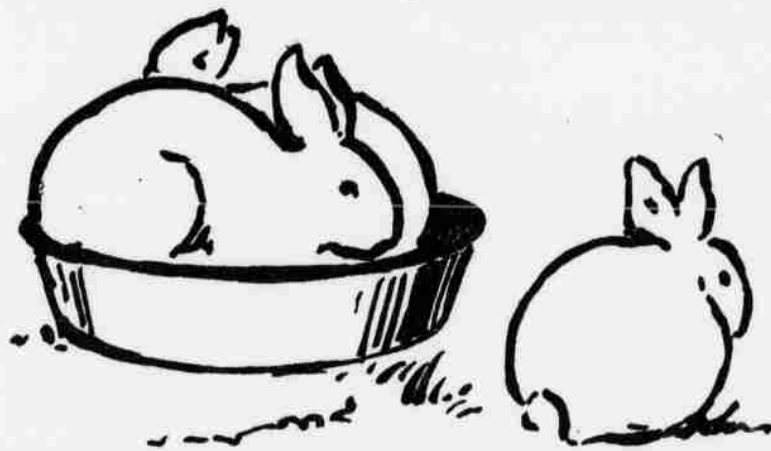

Mrs. Sarah A. Fall carried rose bush cuttings at her side; "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush."

Mr. Calvert Townley wore a shield in the center of which was a small (wee) circle surrounding the letters "T U"; "We Two."

Mr. J. Milton Robinson of the Lenox, wore the letters, "S A," on his breast; "Essay on Man."

Mr. F. Walter Hentz carried a candle stick with the candle burned low; "The Light that Failed."

Mr. J. Henry Hentz, 3rd, wore a card bearing the inscriptions: "July 4th.

A BOOK PARTY AT THE BELGIAN HARE HUTCHES—"TWO IS A COMPANY; THREE IS A CROWD."

Pen drawing for The Pinehurst Outlook by James Hall.

Miss Sanderson was becomingly gowned in flowered French muslin trimmed with a collar of point lace, and she wore diamond ornaments; "Point Lace and Diamonds."

Miss Sarah C. Thurston of Cambridge, Mass., wore these words upon her skirt: November 25—Thanksgiving 1903—Eternity; "Yesterday, To-day and Forever."

Mrs. M. M. Fry wore a card bearing these words: "Christmas, No Rain, New Years,—I"; "Dri and I."

Mrs. F. W. Bradbury of Providence, R. I., wore a corsage bouquet of forget-me-nots; "The Blue Flower."

Miss Bradbury wore a double thread of black silk; "The Double Thread."

Mrs. J. Milton Robinson of the Lenox, wore two cards each bearing the inscription: "ton"—"ton," the endings of Boston and Washington; "A Tale of Two Cities."

Miss Alma Sarles of Washington, D. C., and Miss May E. Freeman of Bridge-

1776—July 4th, 1796;" "Twenty Years After."

Dr. F. W. Bradbury wore a pair of wire cutters; "The Wire Cutters."

Mr. M. M. Fry wore the letters "M U M," arranged diagonally upon a bit of paper; "A Word, only a Word."

Dr. Emery Marvel wore a yachting picture; "Ships that Pass in the Night."

Mr. B. S. Ashby wore a panel picture showing a stork and babes; "To Have and to Hold."

Master Clement Bowers wore a scarlet letter "Z;" "The Scarlet Letter."

Other impersonations were: Mrs. B. S. Ashby, "The Story of an Untold Love"; Mrs. Emery Marvel, "Boots and Saddles"; Mrs. H. R. Staplin, "Black Beauty"; Mrs. Curry, "A Rose of Yesterday"; Miss Hyde, "The Gray Lady"; Miss Marguerite A. Day, "The Last of the Mohicans"; Miss Olney, "Twenty Years After"; Miss Mary Fiske, "The Fireside Sphinx"; Miss Beach, "The Missing King."

GOLF SEASON BEGUN.

Thanksgiving Day Tournament Starts Informal Fixtures.

J. Henry Hentz, Jr., Philadelphia and Dr. Emery Marvel, Atlantic City, are Cup Winners.

THE golfing season was formally begun Thanksgiving day with an 18-hole medal play "kickers" or blind handicap in which the golfers participated. An unknown bogey between 90 and 95 inclusive was announced, which later proved to be 92, and there were cups for the best net and best gross scores. The day was perfect and many onlookers were on the course.

J. Henry Hentz, Jr., of Philadelphia, playing with a handicap of 30, won the net score cup with a card of 123 gross, 93 net, and B. S. Ashby of Passaic, N. J., playing with a handicap of 25, was second with a card of 120 gross, 95 net. Dr. Emery Marvel of Atlantic City, N. J., won the gross score cup with 100; F. Walter Hentz of Philadelphia, coming in second in 107.

Other players included: Mr. and Mrs. Brenton Tomkins, Short Hills, N. J.; O. H. Blackman, Miss Blackman, Calvert Townley, New York; Aug. F. Brombacher, Brooklyn; J. H. Hentz, 3rd, Philadelphia; A. I. Creamer, Boston.

A series of informal events will occur weekly until the formal opening of the season's programme of stated fixtures, late in December. An eighteen hole handicap is announced for to-day.

Invitation to Villagers.

The management and guests of The Holly Inn extend a cordial invitation to the guests of the other hotels and the occupants of the cottages to attend the regular Saturday evening hops and Sunday evening concerts.

These events, which were very pleasantly begun last week, will continue regularly throughout the season.
