

FOR SWEET CHARITY.

Charming Entertainment Arranged for Next Tuesday Evening.

A charming entertainment has been arranged to take place at the Village Hall next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of raising money to provide for the usual Christmas trees for the children residing in the Village and vicinity.

The program will consist mainly of a series of living pictures shown upon the stage which will be transformed into an artists studio. The method of showing these pictures, however, will be unique and not after the usual custom of one picture at a time. One large picture will be shown in a mammoth frame, and in addition there will be several smaller pictures about the studio.

Several clever specialties will be introduced and The Holly Inn orchestra furnish music.

In commendation of the entertainment it is only necessary to say that the arrangements are in the hands of Miss Sanderson of Williamsport, Pa.

The entertainment will begin at eight-thirty, and the admission will be twenty-five cents.

Plans are already making for a delightful series of entertainments at the Hall during the winter, and this the first of the number, assures a most satisfactory beginning.

VARIETY SPICE OF LIFE.

Salmagundi Party at The Holly Inn a Jolly Frolic.

Contestants Play Through Motley Series of Games Ranging from Hearts to Ping-Pong.

Variety, is in all truth, the spice of life, and as a natural consequence, the Salmagundi Party at The Holly Inn Tuesday evening, proved one of the jolliest frolics ever held in this the home of many merry gatherings. Not only did the guests of the hotel, young and old, participate; but many other guests of the Village were present, if not to take part to look on, and often, to laugh until their sides ached.

A motley series of games which included jackstraws, hearts, dominoes, euchre, tiddelywinks, old maid, putting and ping-pong were provided, and it is needless to say that the result was most remarkable.

Of course, everybody knew hearts, euchre old maid and dominoes; but some of the older people had not seen jackstraws since they were children, and when it came to tiddelywinks, ping-pong and in some cases putting, their trials began.

And it was not all smooth sailing for the younger people, for progressing and changing partners mixed things up sadly, and the experts at ping-pong or putting often found themselves paired with a partner who didn't know a racquet from a fly killer, or a putter from a walking stick, and whose ideas of the manner in which these implements should be used were equally mixed.

But all this was a part of the game, furnishing endless amusement not only for the contestants, but onlookers, and the final turning in of the score cards showed very even scores.

Mrs. E. G. Hayes of Canandaigua, N. Y., won the women's prize with eight, Mrs. J. Henry Hentz, Jr., of Philadelphia, Miss Florence Bradbury of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Calvert Townley of New York, tied for second, Mrs. Hentz winning on the draw.

Mr. Frank S. Smith, Mr. Calvert Townley and Mr. O. H. Blackman all of New York, tied for the men's first with seven each, Mr. Blackman winning first and Mr. Smith second, on the cut.
