

C. A. LOCKWOOD WINS

Leads H. Nelson Burroughs Four Targets in Tower Trap Shoot.

Pretty and Unique Contest Which Kept the Shooters Busy-- The Winning Scores.

Thursday's trap shooting event, the third in the winter's series, sixty targets from the Tower Trap, ten each, right, left, overhead, unknown and doubles, developed a pretty and unique contest, which kept the shooters guessing. C. A. Lockwood, of New York, won with a score of thirty-five, to thirty-one for H. Nelson Burroughs, of Philadelphia.

In starting it looked very much as if

EXPERIENCE THE GREAT TEACHER.

Maude—I'm surprised that Harry's parents should be so strongly opposed to his marriage.

Grace—Oh? I don't know. They are married themselves, you know.

Lockwood would have a walk over, but Burroughs pulled up splendidly on the second string, and gave his opponent a good match.

The scores of the leaders were as follows:
