A FLORAL WEDDING

Villagers Enjoy Delightfully Unique Entertainment at The Holly Inn.

Answers for Thirty Questions Found in Names of Flowers—Mr. F. A. King and Mrs. E. G. Warfield Win.

THE Floral Wedding at The Holly Inn Thursday evening proved most delightfully unique and enjoyable and a company of fifty perplexed themselves pleasantly for three-quarters of an hour in an endeavor to find in the names of flowers answers for the various questions relating to the happy couple.

Some of the answers given were most clever and amusing. For instance one answer to the question "what was his money invested in?" was Jassamine (just a nine.) Tulips was one answer given to "what announced the hour?" and Paw Paw to "who gave the bride away?"

Wild Oats and Nicotine were mentioned as what the groom renounced and Carnations (Carrie Nation) and Sassafras (Sassy Fras) were held accountable for those who tried to make mischief between them.

The replies as to what the couple enjoyed "forever after" varied. One thought they had Sweet Peas (Sweet Peace) and another Wild Thyme (Wild Time.)

There were prizes for the largest number of correct guesses. Mr. Fred A. King, of Northboro, Mass., winning the men's prize with sixteen and Mrs. E. G. Warfield, of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. B. S. Ashby, of Passaic, N. J., and Mrs. F. A. King tying for the women's prize with eleven each, Mrs. Warfield winning the cut.

Dancing filled out the evening pleasantly.
