AT THE SIGN OF THE HOLLY

Social Pleasures and Out Door Sports are Pleasantly Intermingled.

Evening of Modelling Planned for the Coming Week—House Count
Steadily Increasing.

STEADILY increasing as the season advances, is the "house count" at The Holly Inn, each week bringing many old and new friends who come for the season. Never before has a more congenial company assembled here, or social pleasures and out-door sports more pleasantly intermingled.

AMONG THE GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Frazer, of Brooklyn, are completing a ten days stay, delighted with Pinehurst.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson, of East Liverpool, O., are making a short visit

Mrs. Priest and Miss Lucy. He will begin at once to prepare The Carolina for its opening January 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Warfield, of Brooklyn, return home after a very pleasant two weeks visit, planning to come again. Mr. Warfield enjoyed the quail shooting while here and was fortunate enough to shoot a fox.

J. C. THOMPSON WINS.

Takes Cup in First Trap Event of the Season.

Early interest in trap shooting has never been greater and it promises well for the coming tournament season.

Wednesday afternoon an informal sweepstake shoot for a pewter stein was held, twenty-five single targets, from the expert traps, and John C. Thompson, of East Liverpool, O., was the winner.

J. V. Hall, of Pittsburg, finished second; Herbert L. Jillson, of Worcester, third; and F. A. King, of Northboro and William F. Macgraw, of Philadelphia, tied for fourth place. Dr. George S. Hill, of Marblehead, Mass., and Charles W. Frazer were also among those who shot.

Another informal event of the same character is taking place as the THE OUTLOOK goes to press.

A BUSY DAY AT THE STABLES.

and forming many pleasant acquaintances.

Mr. A. M. Robbins and Mr. Julian W. Robbins, of New York, were among Thursdays arrivals.

General Hotel Manager H. W. Priest arrived Thursday night, accompanied by STARTED NINE COVEYS.

Maryland Sportsmen Kill Twenty Quail and Run out of Ammunition.

The quail shooting is prime, and a number of sportsmen are enjoying it.

H. D. Hanway, C. C. Hanway, and J. Wallace Browne, of Belair, Md., rode out to West End on the A. & A. train Wednesday and walked back, finding birds extremely numerous. At noon they had started nine coveys, secured twenty quail were out of ammunition, and forced to stop hunting.

John C. Thompson, of East Liverpool, O., and William F. Macgraw, of Philadelphia, are spending a portion of their time in the field.

Department Store Cuts Prices.

A special sale of ribbons and souvenir china at greatly reduced prices, is announced by the Department Store for the coming week. Manager Stillings says the opportunity for buyers is an exceptional one.
