FIVE YEARS OLD.

Miss Mildred Hunkins Entertains Young Friends at Cedars.

The fifth birthday anniversary of Miss Mildred Hunkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hunkins, of Minneapolis, was made memorable Wednesday, with an afternoon party, at which a number of children were guests. Two hours were devoted to games at The Cedars, after which the party marched to The Lenox, wearing paper favor caps, to enjoy dainty refreshments. A feature of the table decorations was a handsome birthday cake with five lighted candles.

Mrs. J. Milton Robinson assisted Mrs. Hunkins in serving.

The guests of the afternoon included Misses Helen and Leslie Alderman, Catherine and Elizabeth Leach, Hazel Winslow, Laura Carroll, Dorothy Coleman, Dorothy Jones; Masters Harry Carroll, Nathan Tufts, Fred Winslow and Varney Jones.

CAROLINA DEFEATS VILLAGE.

Big and Enthusiastic Crowd Witness Second Ball Game.

A big and enthusiastic crowd, including many guests, witnessed the second ball game of the season, played Friday afternoon, The Carolina winning 12 to 6. Hard hitting and reckless base running divided honors with much clever individual work.

The score by innings:

Carolina	—1	3	3	0	2	0	3	—12
Village	—0	0	3	1	6	1	1	—6

Cards at the Berkshire.

Card parties have occupied much of the week at The Berkshire, one of the pleasantest being an evening of progressive bridge, arranged by Mrs. A. B. Myers of Philadelphia. The prize winners were Mrs. Myers, Mrs. William E. Horwill, Mr. C. B. Crockett and Mr. C. P. Heyward. The consolation went to Mrs. A. C. Tufts.

Progressive euchre was in order Wednesday, eight tables being necessary, Mrs. J. V. MacKall, Mrs. Horwill, Mrs. Harriet Coit, Mrs. F. H. Abbott, Mr. C. B. Crockett and Mrs. E. D. White, being the prize winners.

Zanoni Entertains.

Zanoni, the psychologist entertained at The Carolina and Holly Inn, during the week. The entertainment was not new to many, but it loses none of its remarkable, amusing and entertaining features by repetition.

Lecture on Russ-Jap War.

Masashi Kobayshi, of Japan, gave an interesting lecture on the "Russian-Japanese war" at The Carolina, Thursday evening. The pictures shown were excellent and the glimpse given of Japanese life most entertaining.
