

number of the guests the delights of riding in this section of the state, but those who prefer driving will be especially interested in knowing that the organization of the Moore County Fair and Improvement Company is now assured and creating a very general demand for good roads, schools and transportation facilities.

Though natural to locate such a Fair as the company proposes to hold annually at the county seat, it has been decided that the best interest of all will be best served by having this at Aberdeen-Pinehurst Junction.

The permanent exhibit hall which is to be a part of the Fair scheme, will be open the entire year, and it now looks as if interest in the good roads movement would begin actively before the opening of another season.

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

The change made in transportation facilities has been most satisfactory. Coming as they have in through cars direct to the Village, visitors have found it much more convenient than formerly when a transfer at the junction point was necessary. During the summer details which could not be provided owing to the late date at which the change was decided upon, will be carefully perfected, and a most satisfactory arrangement is assured for the coming season.

President Page of the A. & A. Railroad has long used a motor car for rapid transit over his road with satisfaction and pleasure, and with which some of the Village guests are familiar. This car suggested the use of a larger car for the purpose of transferring passengers to Pinehurst, but owing to the fact that the idea was a new one the manufacturers ran up against difficulties which delayed construction. Word has recently been received, however, that the car is on the way and it promises to be an important addition to the roads equipment during the coming season.

THE SCHOOLS.

The present arrangement of schools for the children of guests and for special students who for one reason or another find it necessary or advisable to spend a whole or a part of the winter in the south, will be continued under the management of Headmaster A. G. Warren. Studies will continue to be elective, so that any one in lower grades of schools who are preparing for high schools or colleges, or college students, may continue their home studies without interruption. Special efforts are being made to bring the boarding department into prominence.

HANDICRAFTS.

The Handicraft Shop which has been a source of great interest and pleasure to so many visitors will be continued along the same lines next season. This work prompted the call for the meeting for the purpose of forming a national association, the initial meeting of which was held here early in the season, and it has been responsible for a general awakening of interest among the residents of the vicinity.

VILLAGE BEAUTIFICATION.

Warren H. Manning, the well known Boston architect, who was associated in the planning of Pinehurst, is now giving supervision to the growing of such shrubbery and trees as will afford the most effective and permanent adornment.

The usual repairs and improvements to the entire property will be made during the summer.

THE LIVERY.

The new livery established early in the season, which has been so satisfactory by reason of the excellence of its equipment and the quality of its horses, will continue next season under the same management.

INCREASED WATER SUPPLY.

The new wells brought into use during the present season yield a supply as large as the old ones and, combined, give a supply more than adequate for present and future requirements.

THE COTTAGES.

The cottages will, agreeable to custom, be offered definitely the first of September, the present occupants, as usual, having the first refusal.

IN APRIL NUMBER.

The Southland Magazine Pays Pinehurst a Fitting Tribute.

The April number of The Southland magazine (Norfolk, Va.,) contains an interesting and lavishly illustrated article on Pinehurst; one of the many descriptive stories of the Village which its international prominence is demanding.
