FOX HUNTING BOOMING

MR. KILMER RETURNS.

Pack of Fifty Hounds will Make Merry Music Until Spring.

The return of Mr. Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Binghamton, N. Y., is welcomed by all those who enjoy fox hunting, for Mr. Kilmer brings with him a pack of fifty picked foxhounds and string of hunters, together with a huntsman and two whips, resplendent in the red coats of the Broome County Hunt Club, of which Mr. Kilmer was the founder, and is the leading spirit today.

In addition, Mr. Kilmer brings a pack of beagles for rabbit hunting, and a number of bird dogs for quail shooting, and it is needless to say that he proposes to make much of the varied sports afield which Pinehurst offers and which are attracting the attention of sportsmen throughout the entire country.

Mr. Kilmer's outfit came through by are on sale exhibition, works in both oil and water color being hung.

The largest of the canvases shows a setter and a litter of puppies, a splendid piece of composition, color and drawing. Another important canvas shows two pointers and one setter standing birds, with a rustic fence in the foreground and a typical New England background.

One of the most striking of the water colors is a trio of pictures framed together, setters and pointers on either side, with a pack of running fox hounds in the centre. A second water color shows a setter and pointer at work on running birds and is very spirited in its action; the setter creeping up stealthily and the pointer breaking in ahead with an easy jump.

An oil of a setter, coming head on across a running stream, with a grouse in its mouth, is full of action; one of a setter pointing a dead grouse with another in its mouth, is a striking pose; a

A RENDEZVOUS FOR FOX HUNTERS.

As a rendezvous for fox hunters, Pinehurst's popularity is making rapid gains, for in addition to Mr. Kilmer's pack, is the one already here and owned by Mr. N. S. Hurd of Pittsburg, and the possibility of the coming of the Blackstone Valley (Mass.) Hunt, and several club members, including women, together with their horses.

Reynard abounds in the immediate vicinity and the country is admirably adapted for this sport, which is bound to occupy an important place here in future; last season's start being a brilliant one.
