FOX HUNTERS ARE BUSY

WEEK'S SPORT PROMISING.

Preliminary Working-out Runs Entertain Lovers of Chase.

HE week has been a busy one for the fox hunters, devoted largely to working out the hounds, and incidentally to the enjoyment of several thrilling runs; significant of sport royal during the weeks to come.

Mr. Willis Sharpe Kilmer has had his pack out several times, looking the country over and getting the hounds into shape, with several hot runs to enliven the work, and evidence that Reynard is even more plentiful than in previous years.

Mr. Kilmer is also considering bridging several of the "swamps" in order that the hunt may follow more easily, keeping up with the dogs from start to finish, for Reynard, in certain sections, has found that the dense growth bothers the pack and takes to it when hard pressed.

Mr. Nat S. Hurd has added six fine hounds to his pack, and each succeeding trip finds them working better. While he has yet to report a kill, there has been excitement in plenty, three foxes going at the same time Monday, and in sight part of the time, with the pack keyed to concert pitch, being a day long to be remembered.

The women are taking a lively interest in the sport, not alone those who attempt to follow, but others who resort to cross cuts, as well as some who keep within sound and frequent sight of the chase by driving along the countryside roads.

PISTOL SHOOT MONDAY.

Sterling Cup to be Contested for by Both Men and Women.

The next pistol tournament for a Country Club sterling trophy, is booked for Monday afternoon, open to both men and women. Fifty shots at twenty yards will be the program, handicaps being assigned to equalize the contestants.

Entries should be sent to Dr. Hill at The Carolina, on or before 9 o'clock Sunday evening. Those who have not participated in previous tournaments should turn in three twenty-yard targets at which ten shots have been fired, signed as "attested" by some witness.

IN PROGRESS TODAY.

Annual St. Valentine's Golf Tourney Attracts Big Field of Entries.

The final rounds of the fourth annual St. Valentine's Golf tournament are in progress today, a field of one hundred and thirty players participating, representative of many of the country's crack amateurs and a wide range of territory.

Full details of the event will be printed in next week's OUTLOOK, thus giving the story of the event in its entirety in one issue.

MISS FIRTH WINS.

Takes Mr. Porter's Cup in Special Shoot for Women.

Miss Pauline Firth of Boston, was the winner of a special pistol shoot Thursday afternoon for a cup presented by Mr. John E. Porter, scoring three hundred and fifty-two, really phenomenal considering Miss Firth is just beginning.

Miss Betty Van de Carr of Stockport, N. Y., was second with 170, Miss Marjorie Winants of Bayonne, third with 118, and Miss Catherine Fuller of New York, fourth in 80.

Carthage Popular.

Carthage is becoming a popular point of interest for visitors, through the new railroad; as well as an objective point for those who ride or drive.
