At The Berkshire and Harvard.

An indoor putting competition was enjoyed at The Berkshire Monday afternoon, Mrs. William H. Micou of New York, and Mr. Arthur Curran of North Adams, winning first trophies, and Mrs. H. A. Babcock the consolation. Others who participated were Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bixby, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrell, Mesdames Cheatham, Nolle, Bliss, Comerais, James, Johnston, the Misses Rose-Muller, Dunlap, Mercur, and Turtellot, Messrs. Jackson, Micou, Feick, Lord, Babcock, Abbe and Dr. Moffitt.

The younger contingent enjoyed a "baby parade" Monday evening, attractive and infantile misses escorted by youths in grotesque get-up furnishing much amusement to the spectators. Dancing followed. The Misses Dunlap, Rose-Muller, Stump, King and Abbe wore dainty white gowns and silk sashes, flowing hair tied with coquettish knots of bright ribbon. Miss Adams provoked much laughter in a costume topped by a short flamed color jacket and yellow straw hat loaded with various blossoms. Mr. William Micou and Mr. Harry Abbe were a ridiculous pair. Mr. Micou wore a short white "baby" dress, red stockings, red hat and a mass of wonderful brown curls. Mr. Abbe was a "child" golfer, with velveteen trousers, wide collar, flowing tie, and tiny white straw sailor. He carried a golf stick and his partner made melody with a harmonica. Others who "paraded" were Messrs. Nolle, Somerville, Feick, Curran and Beardsley.

Mrs. M. E. Schell of Detroit and Mrs. C. R. Somerville of London, entertained the Tuesday evening bridge players at The Harvard. Miss Mary Adams of Springfield, Miss Rose-Muller of Towanda, Miss Litchfield of Amesbury, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bliss of Janesville, Wis., won prizes. Others who participated were Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bixby, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Abbe, Mr. and Mrs. Philo S. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dunlap, Mrs. Paul Johnston, Dr. R. H. Moffitt, Mrs. Charles W. James, Mrs. Nancy Helm, Mrs. E. C. Comerais, Misses Hunt and Mr. R. H. Hunt, Misses Chambers, Stump, Dunlap, and Turtellot, and Messrs. C. R. Somerville and C. Feick.

A pleasant innovation at the usual Tuesday afternoon tea this week was the presence of the gentlemen. Rev. T. A. Cheatham entertained with a sympathetic reading of "Tom's Last Forage", a little story which reveals the loyal side of the darky nature.
