

The Pinehurst Outlook

PINEHURST, MOORE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. XV, NO. 8

SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 27, 1912

FIVE CENTS

TRAP SHOOTERS OF CLASS

Pick of Country's Amateurs are Gathered for Midwinter Handicap

G. S. McCarty Breaks 198 out of 200 in Opening Sweepstake Event, Including Straight Run of 131

A REMARKABLE score of one hundred and ninety-eight, and including a straight run of one hundred and thirty-one in the two hundred targets shot at, was the sensational performance of G. S. McCarty of Philadelphia in Wednesday's opening events of the Fifth Annual Trap Shooting Handicap, for which is gathered the classiest and fastest fields ever assembled south of Washington. In second position F. S. Wright of South Wales, N. Y., C. H. Newcomb of Philadelphia, F. A. Hodgman of Tuckahee, N. Y., and W. T. Laslie of Tuskegee, winner of the 1911 Southern Handicap, were bunched in a quadruple tie at one hundred and ninety-two and H. W. Kahler of Philadelphia, winner of the 1911, N. Y. A. C. amateur championship, was tied for third with H. E. Buckwalter of Philadelphia at one hundred and ninety-one. J. F. Wulf of Milwaukee made one hundred and ninety, J. A. Smith of South Solon, Ohio, and C. G. Westcott of Orlando, Fla., one hundred and eighty-nine each.

Heading the professionals was Lester German, of Aberdeen, S. D., challenger for the world's championship trophy, held by George L. Lyon of Durham, N. C., also a contestant in the tournament, with one hundred and ninety-five and including a straight run of one hundred and five. J. T. Skelly of Wilmington was second in one hundred and ninety-four, three targets in the lead of R. W. Clancy of Chicago, E. H. Storr of Baltimore, L. J. Squier of Pittsburgh who were bunched in a triple tie at one hundred and ninety-one. Walter Huff of Macon, Ga., made one hundred and ninety, and J. M. Hawkins of Baltimore one hundred and eighty-nine. In all seventeen contestants were better than ninety-four per cent and fourteen made straight runs better than fifty. "Classy?" "Well some!"

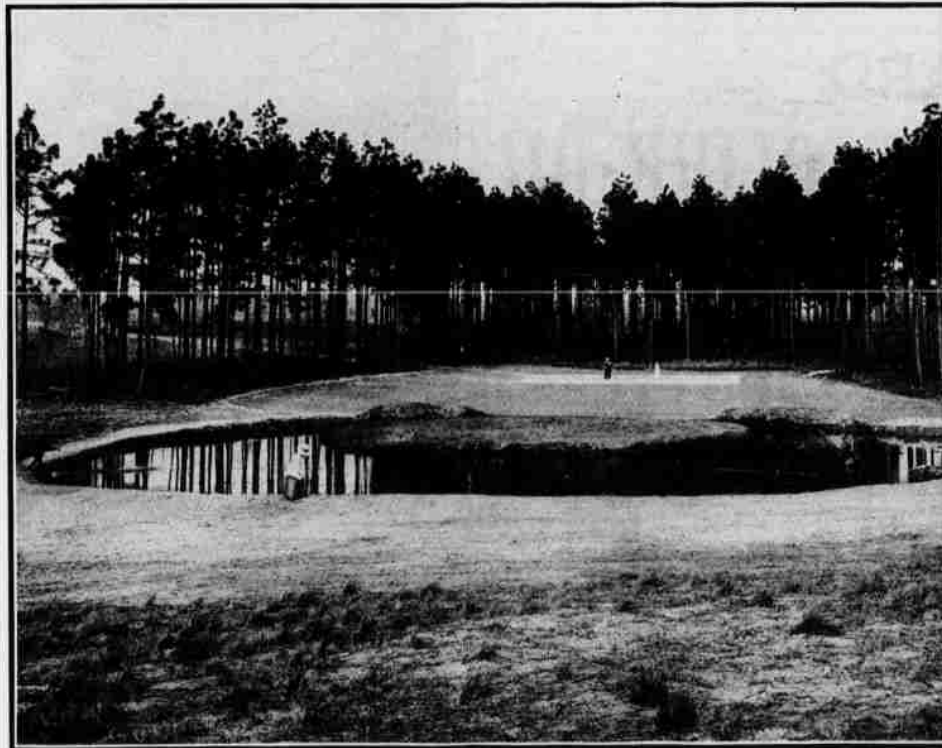

Prominent among other contestants are: R. L. Spotts, the Larchmont Yacht Club Champion, C. W. Billings of Glen Ridge, Dr. D. L. Culver of Jersey City, William Foord of Wilmington, Jesse S.

Young of Chicago, Allan Heil of Allentown, John Philip Sousa of New York, Isaac Andrews of Spartanburg, S. C., E. R. Alexander of Tuskegee, Ala., J. A. Blount of Greensboro, Ala., Roy H. Bruno of Brookville, Ind., Vassa Cate of Brunswick, Ga., George J. Corbett of New York, H. B. Cone of Atlantic City, W. F. Clark of Boston, Mass., Jay Clark, Jr., of Worcester, Mass., H. P. Carlon of Wilmington, Del., Orrin R. Dickey of Boston, James G. S. Dey of Syracuse, J. H. Dreher of Wilmington, N. C., Ben S. Donnelley of Chicago, John Ebberts of Buffalo, John L. Englert of Catawauqua, Pa., H. D. Gibbs of Union City Tenn., C. E. Goodrich of Belvidere, Ill., Edward F. Gleason of Boston, Mass., Norfolk Henderson of Lexington, Ky., J. M. Hawkins of Tuckahee, N. Y., J.

A. L. Ivins of Red Bank was first Thursday with a score of one hundred and ninety-four which included a straight run of one hundred and five. McCarty with an unfinished run of sixty-seven, tied with Kahler at one hundred and ninety-three, Corbett with Jones at one hundred and ninety-two, Buckwalter with Heil at one ninety-one, and Hodgman with Cate at one eighty-nine.

German led the professionals with one ninety-six and straight runs of eighty-one and ninety. Hawkins made one ninety-four, Clancy one ninety-one and Goodrich and Skelly one eighty-seven. Storr ran sixty-eight straight with a total of one eighty-five.

Under the management of Luther J. Squier, Du Pont's expert, and with the aid of three ideal-leggett traps under the personal supervision of Charles North, the event is being run off like clock work. Saturday's (today's) hundred target Handicap is preceded by twenty-target sweeps which fill in the morning.

"DANGER LIES NOT ALONE IN DEEP WATERS"

A. Howlett of Charleston, Mo., W. F. Happer of Jefferson, N. Y., C. C. Irwin of Pittsburgh, A. L. Ivins of Red Bank, N. J., W. H. Jones of Macon, Ga., F. Daniel Kelsey of E. Aurora, N. Y., David L. Leahy of New York, C. A. Lockwood of Jamaica, J. B. McHugh of Wilmington, Charles Nichols of Charlotte, N. C., P. E. Osborn of West Somerville, H. B. Pottinger of Charlestown, Mo., Henry Powers of Atlantic City, J. F. Pratt of Philadelphia, William Ridley of What Cheer, Ia., A. E. Ranney of New York, E. S. Rogers of Cleveland, R. L. Shepard of Warwick, N. Y., J. B. Snowden of Memphis, John F. Shanley, Jr., of Newark, B. B. Ward and A. J. Ward of Aberdeen, S. D., Basil Wagner of Baltimore, A. F. Welling of Mechanicsville and Guy Ward of Birmingham.

Tie in Six Ball Play

A big gallery followed amateur professional six ball play early in the week. Professionals Gilbert Nicholls and Fred McLeod, playing the best ball of professional Jolly and Messrs. Beach, Mac Mahan and Dr. Gardner. The result was a tie with medal scores of sixty-nine each.

Fine Bags for Sportsmen

Fine bags have rewarded such of the sportsmen as found time to desert the traps, C. W. Royce high gun with several bags ranging from twelve to fourteen.

Z. T. MILLER IS THE WINNER

Defeats R. M. Purves, 5 and 4, in Final of Advertising Tourney

George H. Barnes Captures Consolation on Twentieth Green and Keen Play Rules in All Divisions

MATCH PLAY in the Advertising Golf Tournament provided numerous keen contests which culminated in fast semi-final and final play, several pairs over-running the home green. In all divisions but the first, handicaps tended to equalize the field, and fully seven-eighths of the matches were carried as far as the sixteenth. In the first division, Z. T. Miller of New York met R. M. Purves, also of the metropolis, in the final, the match ending on the thirteenth green, five up and four to play. In the semi-final Mr. Miller won from I. S. Robeson of Rochester, six and four; in the second round, from E. J. Ridgway of Montclair, 3 and 2; and in the first from Guy S. Pierce of Chicago, three and one. Mr. Purves reached the final through a ninehole win from Lee W. Maxwell of Chicago. In the second round he defeated J. P. Gardner, also of Chicago, and in the first, he made it possible for George Barnes of New York to win the consolation! Mr. Barnes' final was with G. T. Hodges of Chicago and the twentieth hole decided it.

There were trophies for the division winners and runners-up and consolation winners and runners-up in all divisions, the list including: R. W. Potter of New York and W. L. Crocker of Boston, J. H. Eggers and Don M. Parker of New York, in the second; E. J. Phillips and Thomas T. Rushmore, both of New York, B. D. Butler of New York and George H. French of Boston, in the third; R. C. Wilson of New York and A. L. Aldred of Providence, J. C. Platt and Carl V. S. Howland, both of New York, in the fourth; H. B. Kennedy of New York and E. H. Morris of Philadelphia, Edward Rode and John Bain, Jr., both of New York, in the fifth; W. W. Manning and Robert Frothingham, both of New York, James Barber of Englewood and H. R. Reed of New York in the sixth; Theodore Dickinson and W. W. Hoops, both of Chicago, Russell Doubleday and A. R. Robertson, both of New York, in the seventh.

(Concluded on page three)