GOOD OLD ST. VALENTINE

Annual Holly Inn Dance is Most KEEN INTEREST IN PUTTING Delightful Affair of Many Seasons

SURELY no affair of many seasons has proved more delightful than the annual St. Valentine's dance at The Holly Inn; the evening one of pleasant memory for a large and congenial company, representative of all sections of the village, which entered heartily into the spirit of the day and the occasion.

Several cotillion figures gave variety to the program in which the element of mystery played an important part, the favors including violet boutonnieres and sunflower blazers in the opening dances and the serpentine maze as a prelude to intermission. Concluding the program were the Valentine hat and bonnet numbers, the "Be Merry" noise-making frolic, and last of all, a confetti battle to conclude the evening begun with the opening heart-wand favor march in which the entire household joined.

The surprise of the evening came when a huge heart, which served as the central decorative feature of the hall, was lowered and found to contain tiny hearts, each bearing mystic symbols in duplicate by which unknown partners were selected. The "Paul Jones," with varied changes of right and left, circle, forward and back, and basket was applauded to the echo, and the orchestra was released on not a single dance without an encore and pleading for a "double" which was made impossible by the length of the program and approaching midnight.

Refreshments were served at intermission and no detail of arrangement was overlooked by the committee; the evening's two-color program a souvenir which ere this has been spread far and wide as a message of good cheer. ¶ Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burns of Annapolis led the march. At the favor tables were Mesdames R. C. Blancke of Essex Falls, R. A. Cowing of Cincinnati, C. H. Young of New Rochelle, W. H. Burns of Annapolis and J. L. Weller of St. Catherines.

ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA

Pinehurst on the Circuit for Imported Eight-Part Photo Drama

The week has been a record-breaker for the moving pictures, matinees and evening performances claiming full houses. ¶ Manager J. M. Greene announces the presentation of the famous "Antony and Cleopatra" for March 28th. This is an eight-part photo drama by the Cines Company of Rome, which is to be shown in this country by George Kleine. ¶ We shall print an interesting and extended review by James S. McQuade soon.

Whittemore Shoots a Seventy-four

Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline recorded a seventy-four and a course record for Number 3 during the past week.

Carolina, Inn and Berkshire Guests Enjoy Special Competitions

Putting competitions added to the interest of the week for hotel guests, The Carolina, Holly Inn and Berkshire all joining in the spirit of these affairs. ¶ The Carolina program included an innovation in the form of mixed doubles which proved most popular, a tie resulting at fourteen (combined scores) between Mr. W. H. Coldwell and Miss Laura Balfe and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Boyd, the former pair winning. Next in line were Mr. and Mrs. Worth, who made twelve, Mr. Dunne and Miss Patterson, Mr. Balfe and Mrs. Hubbs, Mr. Hubbs and Miss Helen Balfe, who were bunched in a triple tie at eleven. ¶ In the men's singles H. C. Curtis won first with thirteen, and Messrs. A. C. Sullivan, C. L. Becker and M. D. Fink tied at eleven for second; Mr. Sullivan winning the play-off. In women's singles Mrs. J. C. McCreery was first in thirteen and Mrs. Daniel Simonds second in eleven.

At The Holly Inn competition Messrs. S. C. Masters and W. A. McGregor tied for first, the former winning the play-off; J. S. Neil won third in a tie play-off with R. C. Stenger and W. F. Scott.

In the women's event, Mrs. C. H. Young, Mrs. E. H. Pinney and Miss N. A. Hubbs tied for first, Miss Hubbs winning first in the play-off, Mrs. Young second and Mrs. Pinney third.

At The Berkshire Messrs. G. W. Dodd, O. H. Oreutt, T. W. Robinson, J. L. Bauer, D. Strachan and H. A. Waldron were prize winners.

The trophies in all events were attractive sterling articles of utility.

Popularity Led to Repetition

The popularity of Tuesday's putting competition at The Inn led to its repetition in the form of a subscription contest on Wednesday. Two balls each, the total score deciding entrance into three divisions each, for both men and women, was a novel innovation on the program; qualification being followed by match play. ¶ In the first division W. S. Brown made a winning 2, Mr. George Hendry and Rev. M. M. Sheedy taking the second and third in 1 and 2. ¶ In the women's divisions Miss H. Wineman and Mrs. J. A. Harris tied for first at 3, Miss Wineman winning the play-off. Mrs. J. O. Murray made the second with a 2, and Mrs. S. E. Blanchard and Miss Marjorie Weller tied for third with 3s, Mrs. Blanchard winning the play-off. ¶ In the first division of both the women's and men's events there was a consolation, the highest score deciding play. Mrs. W. S. Brown and Mrs. J. S. Neil tied, Mrs. Neil winning the play-off. ¶ Mr. C. H. Young won the consolation with 19.
