PATH STREWN WITH ROSES

Parker W. Whittemore Finds Going Easy in Annual Spring Golf Tourney

Thirteen Match Play Divisions Fight Many Hard Battles on Numbers 2 and 3 Courses

PARKER W. Whittemore of the Brookline Country Club, the qualification medalist, romped through an easy winner of the thirteen-division, two-hundred-and-fifty entry, tenth annual Spring golf tournament.

Arden M. Robbins, the Garden City and Bar Harbor expert, was first to strew roses in the victor's path, retiring five down and four to play, and W. H. Faust of the Buffalo Country Club was equally generous in the second round. J. S. Harding of the Oakmont Club was not quite so well disposed, but he lost three down and one to play, advancing Whittemore to a four and three final victory over Irving S. Robeson of the Oak Hill Country Club in a match which was much closer than the score indicates.

Robeson's twenty-hole win from Charlton L. Becker of the Woodland Golf Club was the only first division contest which really thrilled the gallery. One down at the turn, the Rochester golfer was all square on the tenth and he held his own with halves on the eleventh and twelfth. Losing the thirteenth, he won the fourteenth, halved the fifteenth and gained the lead on the sixteenth, but lost the seventeenth. A halve on the eighteenth carried the match to the nineteenth where Robeson missed a putt and gave Becker a three-foot opportunity to win which he failed to embrace, and Becker's poor tee shot on the twentieth gave Robeson the match and the hole, 4-6. ¶ Robeson's second round win was three and one from his clubmate, R. C. Shannon, 2d, and in the first round, he defeated T. B. Boyo of Bellerive by five and four.

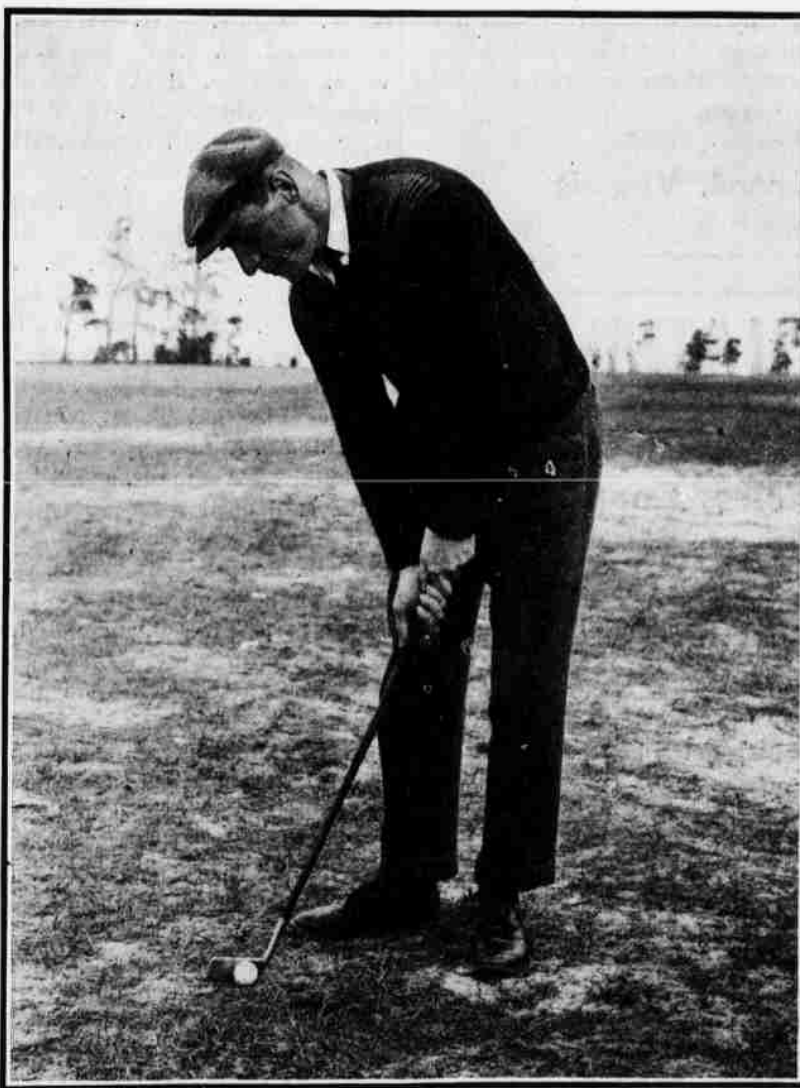

Robert Hunter of Wee Burn is indebted to Becker for his place in the consolation, and a game fight the final was which the home green decided. Hunter's first win was three and two from G. A. Miller of Detroit, and his second, seven and five from David F. Leahy of Deal. In the final he found Robbins a worthy foe and the pair were neck and neck to the home green where Hunter was victorious by one up. ¶ Semi-final and final rounds in the remaining eleven divisions developed keen play, two ending on the home green, three on the seventeenth, and four requiring extra holes.

There were prizes for division winners and runners-up, and consolation winners throughout all divisions, with special trophies for the winners in two overflow consolation eights, the list exclusive of the first division, including the following: SECOND—R. H. Fortune of Winnipeg, J. H. Clapp of Chevy Chase and G. T. Curtis of Rochester; THIRD—L. E. Wardwell of Megunticook, C. L. Jones of Oakmont and R. H. Hunt of Worcester; FOURTH—G. N.
