THE UNITED CHAMPIONSHIP

Amateur-Professional and Open Events Inaugurate Pinehurst's Classic

Gathered for the Amateur is Fastest and Most Representative Field in History

PLAY in the United Championship swung wide open with the amateur-professional and Open events of Friday and Saturday last, the results suggestive of what the present week has held in store. Gathered for the Amateur is unquestionably the fastest and most representative field in the history of this classic—a tournament of National importance which from the standpoint of quality is only exceeded by the National Amateur. ¶ Heading the field is Walter J. Travis, former International champion, of Garden City, whose rating in the National list is two; Chisholm Beach of Fox Hills (4) and his clubmate, W. E. Truesdell; I. S. Robeson of Oak Hill (6) and his son, F. K. Robeson; Dr. C. H. Gardner of Agawam (5), Rhode Island champion; James D. Standish, Jr., once winner of the United, E. H. Brown and H. B. Lee (4), former Ohio champion, all of the Detroit Country Club; Harold Weber of Toledo (4); H. A. Steiner of Inwood (5); R. S. Worthington of Shawnee (5); Garfield Scott of the Philadelphia Country Club (6); E. C. Beall of Uniontown (5); C. W. Diebel of Youngstown (6); W. M. Paul of Mecklenburg (6); M. F. O'Connell of Alpine (6); C. L. Becker of Woodland (6); E. M. Barnes of Englewood (6); W. H. Faust of the Buffalo Country Club (6); Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline, former Massachusetts champion; Robert Hunter of Wee Burn (5); Percy Rothwell of Hartford, Paul E. Gardner of Onwentsia, Col. J. E. Smith of Wilmington, Henry C. Fownes of Oakmont and J. M. Thompson of Springhaven make up a fairly complete list of the fast ones. ¶ R. F. Robinson of St. Catherines and R. H. Fortune of Winnipeg are the Canadians participating, both rated at six in their home list. ¶ Thirty-six hole qualification Monday and Tuesday preceded today's finals.

WHITTEMORE AND HAGAN LEAD

One hundred and forty placed Professional Walter Hagan of Rochester, who played with Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline, in the lead in the amateur-professional contest. Tied for second and third places at one hundred and forty-one were Thomas Macnamara of Boston and W. H. Faust of the Buffalo Country Club, Gilbert Nicholls of Wilmington and Chisholm Beach of Fox Hills. ¶ R. G. MacDonald of Buffalo and W. E. Truesdell of Fox Hills were fourth in one hundred and forty-two and Walter Fovargue of Skokie and C. L. Becker of Woodland fifth in one hundred and forty-three. ¶ Individual scores were lost track of in the effort to help one another, but Macnamara went fifteen holes in fifty-six on the afternoon round, recording a 5 on the sixteenth and blowing up on the seventeenth where his tee shot made a trap at the right of the green. Failing to recover on his second, Macnamara picked up, making 4 on the eighteenth. Allowing 4 or even 5 on the seventeenth, the Boston professional would have recorded 69 or 70. The record is 67, but 70 is the best this year, and Whittemore holds the honors. ¶ The quartet of sixty-eights was the sensational feature of afternoon's play and which decided the winners in two cases, afford an interesting basis for comparison, and they are records which are very rarely lowered:
