The Absolute Dependability of Sutton's Grass Seed Mixtures

When you buy Sutton's individual varieties or mixtures, you get exactly what you pay for.

And further than that, you pay for pure grass seed only. The chaff is all taken out. All weed seed entirely removed.

Those of you who have been down to our establishment at Reading, England, and witnessed the workings of our numerous cleaning machines; and seen the seed going from one to the other; have marveled at the extent of the process and the number of cleaning machines. Sutton's Seeds must pass through. Your confidence was still further established, when you found that the complete process, from cleaning to germination tests, was continually under the direct supervision of one of the firm.

In comparing weights in buying, you will invariably find Sutton's Seeds run more pounds to the bushel, simply because they contain no empty shells—but live grass seed.

Although we carry a stock of seeds on this side; still in the height of the season, large orders may have to come from England. As a precaution, send your orders at least a month ahead of your needs.

You are welcome to a copy of our Red Book, on Golf Course Construction. If you incline to send $3.75, we will mail you, the famous "Book of the Links," by Martin H. F. Sutton.

FINE GOLF BY ROSS

NO. 18 HOLE, NO. 3 COURSE

With Truesdell Beats Carter and Boyd

Donald Ross gave an exhibition of fine golf Monday afternoon in a best-ball foursome playing with W. E. Truesdell of Fox Hills against Phil Carter, the Metropolitan junior champion, and T. B. Boyd of St. Louis. He did the number two course in 71 which is par. He and his partner beat Carter and Boyd 13 points by the point system, also six up four to play. Ross beat Carter four and three. Carter was not up to the striking form he has been showing, and took 79 to cover the course.

Length 452 Yards

Nº 3 Course Nº 8 Hole 452 yds

MAP SHOWING PROPOSED BUNKERING AND CHANGES ON LINE OF FAIR GREEN

This hole calls for two long shots to make the green. On the finished hole there will be three tees, so that under almost any conditions the hole will be of good playing length.

The tee shot is slightly down hill and the second shot slightly up hill. The player taking the long carry from the tee over the bunker will have a decided advantage, as there is a sharp run-away from the left edge of the course towards the center of the fair-green. A tee shot placed on the left edge will therefore have the advantage of a sharp run towards the green.

A player taking the short carry will have the disadvantage of an upward grade at the end of the shot which stops the run of the ball, thus making the carry over the bunker at 350 yards a much longer one. The short player will always take the short carry from the tee, or clear to the right of the bunker. With the second shot he has the choice of playing to the left of the bunker at 315 yards and having a straight run to the green with his third, or playing his second shot in the open space to the right of the bunker making his third shot a rather difficult one on account of the undulations on the right front of the green.

The grass undulations on the rear of the green will make the recovery of an over-played shot rather difficult.

The hole as now played is plain and uninteresting but the topography of the land lends itself to the making of an excellent hole.

—DONALD J. ROSS.
