POCKET GOLF

Pat Doyle Established Record on Barber Course

This new and fancy putting hurdle and lawn party golf game introduced by James Barber in his back yard, has come to the point where it will have to be taken seriously. When eight of the leading golf professional of the United States desert the conventional three mile course provided at such expense by the Pinehurst Country Club, and repair to the Lilliputian substitute layed out among the flower beds of Barber's place, and strive with intense and bitter rivalry to demonstrate heir superiority down the sandy lanes with nibble and putter, we have to admit the advent of a new game. And it behooves us to pay attention to the scores, for it may be that on that day a record was established which may go down into aistory.

This course, initiated by the ladies of the Advertising Fraternity has eighteen perfect and picturesque holes, of an average of perhaps fifty feet in length, made difficult and entertaining by a variety of ingenious obstacles and dog's-leg curves. Twice around this diminutive course the battle raged. And resulted in an eighteen hole record and triumph for Pat Doyle, master of golf at Deal. For the benefit of these hereafter essaying this course we give the score by holes, making a 38 for the round, an average of two over twos.

Pat Doyle

First round	2 3 3 2 2 1 2 2 2
Second round	2 2 2 2 3 2 2 2 2—38
Tom Boyd	2 3 3 2 2 2 2 2 2
	2 2 4 2 2 2 2 2 2—40
The Best ball	1 2 2 1 2 1 1 1 2
	2 2 2 1 1 2 1 2 1—27

Even Match

The two giants of the Pinehurst Links, Donald Ross, who invented it and Willie Wilson of York Harbor, who presides over the destinies of the Country Club Office, went out for a round over Number two course Monday. And unless sunset had intervened would probably be still at it, to determine who was the fastest. Not only did the match end up all even, but the medal score was identical, both developing a 77. Wilson had one stroke the better of it going out, with a 38, and one stroke the worst of it coming in with a 39.
