guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bausher, Mr. and Mrs. Noyes, Mrs. Tufts, Miss Sarah Yerxa, Mr. Yerxa, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. C. Rumsey.

The Boys of Parson's Pinehurst School took over the Club House Tuesday evening, to regale their Basketball team, hence the sound of revelry by night, and the rejuvenation of the Little Old Red Shawl, and the melodies and medlies of our youth, that floated through the still groves to the joy of the world.

The greatest and most entertaining of all these festivities was John McQueen's birthday party Saturday evening. The long T shaped table could scarce hold all the assembled well wishers, and the dinner for the governor was teetotally eclipsed by the spirit of laughter that emanated therefrom.

At the same time—this was Saturday evening—the Governor of North Carolina threw off his official aspect and joined in with a hearty company of friends, dining with Leonard Tufts at the Club. The party consisted of Judge Sanford H. Steele, W. E. Truesdell, Frank Page, Benjamin F. Butler and George Maurice from Eagle Springs, Colonel Francis Fries of Winston-Salem and others.

On Saturday there will be a big party and Rummage sale, jamboree and lecture at the Derby Plantation for the benefit of the Red Cross. It promises to be a very attractive affair. Supper will be sold and the proceeds placed where they will do the most good. Benjamin F. Butler will exhibit his War slides and tell the story from the front after supper, and a diversity of entertainment and the usual good cheer is promised.

GALA DAY'S HORSEBACK

To my mind the young folks that get the best out of this season of the year are the enthusiasts who saddle up every morning and take their fun with their camping outfits somewhere along the streams at the end of a morning's gallop. Take the expedition Thursday. The Little River was called upon to supply the larder and a local chef of great talent and justly famous worked a charm upon the fish and made a collation which he called a fish fry that fascinated the assembly. This expedition was led by Miss Helen Morton of Chicago, who lives in the saddle. She was followed by Mrs. E. C. Spencer, C. B. Horn, Miss Ballard, Miss Elizabeth Chapin, Arthur Armstrong, and Mrs. J. G. Bausher.

This adventure proved such a success that on the following Tuesday the whole Woodland Brigade joined in the expedition, which made its way to Thaggards to dine under the ancestral pines. Expert camp cooks were discovered when the call came for volunteers, and a wonderful spread was turned out in short order over a brushwood fire. Taking to saddle the party spent a good part of the afternoon in equestrian games and sports a la Cossack. There were twenty-three of this riding party in all, among whom were Miss Ballard, Miss Chapin, Mrs. Bartlett Heywood, C. L. Bausher, Mrs. J. G. Bausher, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bicknell, Mrs. J. G. Bausher, Miss Betty Bicknell, Miss Reid, Miss Fallon, Mrs. Judge, H. H. Johnson and six guests, H. W. Moore, Miss Humiston, Mrs. E. P. Spencer and R. H. Weakley.

Barber and Frost Have Best Ball of 62

When it came to four ball best ball against par, in the handicap Tin Whistle Match on number one last week, James Barber of Englewood and H. G. Frost lit into the card and paralyzed the course. With a net score of no more than 62, they came in five up on par, and tied for first place against the M. Ds., Doctors M. W. Marr and J. S. Brown. Donald Parson and W. E. Wells, with less substantial handicaps pushed them with a 67 medal score, and beat par in match play two up. This performance was equalled by Robert Foote and S. H. Fields, and F. P. Lee playing with H. H. Rackham of Detroit. Three other couples in this remarkable match came home ahead of the par score. Played on number one Four Ball against Par.

Summary

Four ball against par. First and second prizes. No. 1 course. Full handicap.
