WIN THAT FLAG

Some decorations are a pleasure to have. Some are an honor. Others are a disgrace not to possess. Primary among these last is the third Liberty Loan emblem. The Treasury Department of the United States is giving to every town and city a flag of honor that they can fling to the breeze, telling the world that they have done their duty and subscribed every cent called for by the last govern-

It has been a source of great satisfaction to the community that for the last five years we have come to be regarded as in some slight measure a leader among the Rural neighborhoods in the State, in the matter of public spirit and the practical experiments into the upbuilding of the country districts for the benefit of themselves and the Republic. This reputation has its grave responsibilities as well as its gratifications. For it brings us into the bright light, and silhouettes our performance in any decisive public enterprise.

Consequently we MUST have that

Judging from past performances of Pinchurst that is a simple matter. Well then, we will make an effort to show our real leadership. For it is provided that every village that buys twice its quota shall have a star added to the flag. So we have hitched our wagon to that star. Friends, see to it that we get it.

At the present moment it is the more necessary that this community back this loan with overwhelming enthusiasm, and display to the world its banner of distinguished service. For right here in the Sandhills there has been started a publication devoted to the defeat of the Liberty Loans. It is devoted to that end, to the advertising the danger J. P. Morgan is to the World. We hold no brief for J. P. Morgan, but this town cannot rest with a verbal repudiation of traitorous utterances and efforts and the general condemnation of attempts to divert the progress of the fight by Bolsheviki propaganda—it must show its contempt in the one only certain way. That is to buy more bonds in the face of that paper than any other one place of its size in America. That is the only answer of any value at all. If you believe that this action merits rebuke, go to the bank and buy just three times as many bonds as you would if it had not been issued. It will then have served its purpose admirably.

Holly Inn Masquerade

The annual masquerade ball of the employees of the Holly Inn that last Friday night was the cause of the merrymaking and laughter that came from that vicinity until the wee hours of morning. The occasion vaunted no vast multitude such as assembled at the Carolina employees' ball a short time ago, but what they lacked in numbers they gained in having just as good a time and perhaps a little better.

John Leary and Grace Burke were awarded first prize by the judges for the best comic costumes. Theresa Morgan and Charles Carbrey also came in tume and Bessie Tolman had no competitors for first prize for the fanciest dress in the room.

Second prizes were awarded to Maud Atkinson and Ralph Devri best comic regalia, Ethel Showers and our old friend Adam took prizes in this division for the most original and Margaret Mac-Osker won the fancy dress prize.

Others in costume were, Henry Easton, Avis Briggs, Ella White, Marion Bond, Helen O'Day, K. Gilson, Foretta Shaugnessey, Florence Mealey, Mollie Hennessey, Mabel Bond, Evelyn Tappan, Messrs. Terrin, Estabrook and Windherter, Grace Trowbridge and Ethel

The exhibition features of the evening were the Hoochymakoo dance of Charley Chaplin and the Bowery girl and John Riley and Ethel Geary in their modest attempt to out do the modern dancing masters of the world in the Modern Glide Fandango.

Dinner Parties

Evan G. Chandler was host at a dinner given at the Carolina last Friday in which Mrs. Myra Pritchett of Battle Creek, Michigan, was the guest of honor. The guests included Mrs. Fred D. Ostrander of Gloversville, Miss Louise Elkins of Pittsburg, Mrs. William F. West and Mr. and Mrs. Simeon D. Wyeth.

Mrs. T. H. Hogsett gave a luncheon party for ladies Monday attended by Mrs. Warren Bicknell, Mrs. Charles Bradley, Mrs. Alva Bradley, Mrs. George Coulton, Mrs. Jack Crawford and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower entertained Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bausher and Mrs. Arms at dinner Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Pierce and Tom McGraw were the guests of Charles W. McHose at dinner Sunday evening at the Substantial gifts and presents have been added to the Red Cross War Chest during this last week. There was a big whist and five hundred battle at the Country Club last Friday, in which all the Bridge forces of the village were heavily engaged. This festival and entertainment produced seventy-one dollars for the coffers of the Association.

Backing the Red Cross

The treasurer of the big masque held some time since by the employees of the Carolina hotel presented the Red Cross with $50 of their proceeds, and at the same time went to the support of the Farm Life School with another fifty.

Miss Gwendolyn Cummings gave fifty dollars in cash.

Mrs. John C. Spring has given a sewing machine for the daily work, and Mrs. King has supplemented this with the electric motor to run it.
