

THE FIELD TRIALS

and Gyp, owned and handled by Ed Fry. These dogs had the best country run over up to this time. The first part of the heat was through the woods, but the last part was a nice open country on the Pine Knot farm. Considering this, neither dog went as wide as it should. Sunkist has a nice way of going; plenty of speed. Gyp had no speed or range.

The last brace was put down on the Pine Knot farm, a great big country, and was Crocker's Ben Sport, owned and handled by Mr. Crocker, and Cute B, owned by Dr. Brown and handled by Tom Nailes. Mr. Crocker rushed his dog, especially at the first, too much, but both dogs showed splendid speed and range, and it was a great pleasure to watch them. Cute had a little more class and when she snapped up a point on the hill half a mile from the handlers and judges it was beautiful. Due to delay in transit, the judges did not get to her in time to see whether she flushed the birds or made a false point. Ben spent a good deal of time on the edge of the swamp, apparently working on foot scent, but outside of that and the fact that he found no birds he ran a perfect heat. Cute, after making the find on the hill pointed a couple of times more, but no birds were developed. At this point John Brinkins Jack, Cute B and Ben Sport were the three outstanding dogs in the order named. Peggy Montrose, Sunkist and Dolly Patch were the next in order. The judges announced that they would not need the next day Was-tica, Stylish Palmetto, Dolly Peach Blossom or Gyp.

On Saturday morning the first brace to go down was Blow's Rose, owned and handled by Mr. Blow, and Frank B., owned by Dr. Brown and handled by Tom Nailes. Neither dog showed well, and it was quite evident that Frank B was out of condition.

The second brace was Silver Lining, owned by J. P. Dunn and handled by Armstrong, and Covey Cot Jessica, owned and handled by Mr. H. H. Wilkins. Silver Lining is a wonderful dog; lots of style, speed and range, but Jessica was not his equal. She was handicapped, to be sure, by the fact that Mr. Wilkins handled on foot which made it necessary to hold up Silver Lining once or twice. The control of Mr. Armstrong's dogs makes this more possible, however, than with most handlers. Neither of the dog-found birds.

The second series brought out Cute and Sunkist. Cute had something the best of this, and seemed to be picking out the likely places for birds, though they both did well. The next brace in the second series was Dolly Patch and Peggy Montrose. Neither of these dogs showed up well enough to be carried any further. Crocker's Ben Sport and Silver Lining came next, and both of these dogs ran a splendid race. In coming through the woods they were found on point in a swale. It was hard to tell which had the birds although they were a little nearer Silver Lining. Ben Sport made a point, but nothing was found, in a swale where the singles dropped. He afterwards held a point for a few minutes on a side hill some distance off, but no birds were found. He gave the impression that he was slowing down some at the end of this heat. The judges announced then that John Brinkins Jack would be awarded first, and that Cute B and Ben Sport would be run to see which would run against Silver Lining. The party then had lunch and moved in near town. Cute and Ben Sport were put down and Ben Sport had rather the best of it. Cute ran a race through a bare orchard all by herself, but Ben Sport kept hunting. Cute made one point; nothing was raised. Ben Sport made a covey find. The first two prizes of the membership stake was then run, and just before dark Ben Sport and Silver Lining were put down. They both ran a splendid heat. Ben Sport kept up his speed and range in good shape, especially considering how hard he had been run. Silver Lining found birds and handled them in good shape. He has considerable more style than Sport, and from what we could see his bird work was snappy and his control excellent. The judges then announced that first went to John Brinkins' Jack, second to Silver Lining, third to Crocker's Ben Sport, and fourth to Cute B.

The Members' Sweepstakes was won by H. H. Wilkins' setter bitch, Covey-cot Jessica, handled by her owner.

Jay V. Hall's setter bitch Dolly, Peach Blossom, handled by the owner, took the second.

The third went to Norwood Johnson's griffon, Homere's Jack, handled by Frank Butler.
