

RANNEY'S WORST HOLES

Were Better than Anybody Else Could Perpetrate on Monday.

A field of sixty-nine players essayed to play their worst holes best in the Tin Whistles' selected holes tourney on Monday.

Major A. Elliott Ranney of Greenwich, handicap 6, played his twelve worst holes in a net 52, and won the Class A prize, incidentally taking the low gross honors with 39, 39-78. H. G. Phillips of Moore county (5) came in second, at 54 net, and finished in 42, 37-80 gross. Donald Parson of Youngstown was second low gross in 42, 37-79.

The Class B prize for the medium handicap men was won by C. M. Jamison of Greensburg, handicap 16, who finished in 86 gross and 50 net.

C. S. Waterhouse of Ardsley won in Class C.

The Suspense Ended on Friday when Dr. T. A. Cheatham and A. S. Higgins won the long delayed play-off of the tie arrived at a week earlier in the Tin Whistles Four Ball Contest against Par. Higgins and Cheatham tied for the Class A prize, at 3 up on par, with G. A. Bomann and E. J. Barber, and won the play off by finishing 4 up on par, on Number Three, while Barber and Bomann came in at 3 up. Dr. Cheatham had an 82, which is about 5 strokes better than he ever had on Number Three before, so far as our record for the past ten years are any guide. Incidentally, the round was 5 strokes ahead of Dwight Armstrong's in the play-off for the qualifying round staged on the same course at the same time.

Mrs. H. E. Moles

of Westmont, Conn., won the ladies' rifle contest with a high target of 141 out of a possible 150. Miss Louise Patterson, of Plainfield, N. J., was second at 135, and Miss M. B. Patterson of New York, scored 130.
