AUCTION SALE

NIAGARA, N. C., TUESDAY, JAN. 6

At 10:30 A. M. 300 Acres

Subdivided into small farms, known as Niagara Pines

We will sell at public auction on the above date, the remainder of the beautiful lots located in the delightful little town of Niagara, N. C., on the main line of the Seaboard Railroad, and only a short distance from Southern Pines.

These farms will be adapted to the culture of peaches, grapes, dewberries, tobacco and cotton, as well as all vegetable crops. Among these are some very desirable home sites, and its location being about midway between Southern Pines and Lake View, and adjoining some of the most famous peach orchards in the South. This is a grand opportunity for any one wishing to secure a good home site, or a small farm on easy terms. Liberty bonds or war savings stamps will be taken at face value as part payment on this property.

We have instructions from the owner to sell each and every farm regardless of price, so don't overlook this opportunity to buy. There will be a big barbecue dinner free for all on the grounds. Take a day off, bring your family, and your friends, and enjoy a New Year's dinner.

Ladies especially invited. Our brass band will entertain you. Many valuable prizes given away.

A PROFESSIONAL SHOPPER TELLS NEW YORK THE LATEST STYLES IN PINEHURST

From Pinehurst, N. C., comes the report that frilled blouses are very much in evidence among those at the resort, who, coming from the game of golf rather than the game of "wintering South," spend most of their time in sports clothes. Deep "V-ed" or coat sweaters open to reveal double frill jabots, generously pleated and most of them simply finished with hemstitching, though some of them carry a narrow lace edging such as filet picot.

Neck lines seem to be turning their favor to the round or oval, which is said to be very prominent there, made with a frilled collar that falls outside of the sweater that usually covers the body of the blouse. This frill is said to be wider this year, almost like the wide gathered collars of lace that were a neckwear feature of the past summer.

A deep lavender blouse was one of the few colored ones spoken of as seen in Pinehurst, and this embodied both the double front frill and the wide pleating at the neck, effectively worn with an open white sweater. Less feminine, but also reported popular, is the high neck waist, finished with a stock. Over-the-skirt numbers play a small part at this resort as yet, since there is little afternoon dressing, the golfers keeping to the links all day. The newly popular toast shade, however, was seen in one Pasque of lustrous satin, very simply made.

Almost without exception, every one lives all day in the open here and sports clothes are more than popular. Looking over the crowds one sees many in hunting and equestrian costumes, and others ready for the golf links and tennis courts.

COLORED SPORTS ATTIRE

Scotch leather mixtures and corduroy suits are much worn, and suits of soft wool material show burnt orange-skirt with corn dots of black, and a loose top-coat of black, black and green striped skirt with green sweater of angora emerald green duvetyn skirt, short and of generous width, topped with matching wool sweater and knitted tam.

Bright colored velvet hunting caps with visor, are worn on all occasions, generally matching the knitted sweater, the tailored blouse, or the wide wool scarf.

Many women here wear boots of English pattern broad toed pull-ons, in black dull or polished leather, banded at the top with black or red patent leather. The riding suits are the same as those worn in the Northern cities, with the addition of a buttonhole ornament, of three tiny Prince of Wales feathers.

VELVETS AND BROCADES

Every evening there are dances at hotels and cottages and here are seen velvets and brocaded satin evening dresses of the North as well as the more summery gowns of net. Georgette cerise, satin and taffeta, and last and most important looking, the new weaves of cotton crepe and voile in the daintiest colorings in plain, tiny checks, dots and stripes, with trimmings of narrow Baronette ribbon, fring, ruchings and ruffles lace edged.

The thin dresses show shorter and wide skirts, with normal belt sashes, and many have bodice trimmings of flowers, a chon of narrow ribbon or the Wales feathers.—New York Woman's Wear.

Farmer H: I've bought a barometer, Mandy, to tell when it's goin' to rain, ye know."

Mrs. H: "To tell when it's goin' to rain?" Why, I never heard of such extravagance! What do you s'pose the good Lord hez give ye the rheumatiz for?"

REMARKABLE REMARKS

John D. Rockefeller—The apostle Paul was a fine business man.

Corra Harris—Like all Gaul, every church is divided into three parts—the Christians, the hardened saints and the Choir.

Thomas A. Edison—I have never had the time to be tempted to do anything against the moral law.
