PINEHURST TO OPEN 1920 TENNIS SEASON WITH BRILLIANT TOURNEY

JUDGING SOLELY from the impressive list of entries already received for the coming North and South Tennis Tournament in Pinehurst the tennis world will be treated this week to an exhibition of high-class tennis and we doubt whether any of the forthcoming tournaments in the North will reveal an assemblage of tennis notables comparable to the stars now wielding their rackets on the courts at the Country Club.

The list of women players is of the highest order. Four out of the first ten ranking players in the United States are now in Pinehurst. In enumerating them we hardly know where to begin. Miss Marion Zinderstein rightfully occupies a prominent position. She has already won the Pinehurst Challenge Cup once and stands a good chance of securing it permanently. Miss Edith Sigourney, although not ranked in 1919, is another Bostonian from whom we expect great things in this April tourney. Watch her deep court drives and her speedy and accurate service. Miss Helen Pollak of Newark, ranked 10th in 1919, but she is now queen of the indoor court, having defeated Miss Sigourney in the National Championship Finals. The New Jersey star is only 18 years old, and she plays a cool steady game, minus any tendency to brilliancy, and she has a reputation of knowing how to make those clever placement shots that score heavily in a match. Another star is Miss Helen Gilleaudeau of Mamaroneck, N. Y. She will push Miss Zinderstein hard for final honors. The Ballin sisters are in Pinehurst and they are dangerous contenders. Miss Phyllis Walsh and Miss Catherine Force, coming up from Palm Beach where they have been playing rattling good tennis, are another pair whose names add lustre to the program. Other women players are Mrs. Harold Throckmorton, Mrs. Theodora Schst, Miss Bertha Sexton, Mrs. De Forest Candee, Mrs. Dorothy I. Briggs, Mrs. Stratfin and Mrs. Gear. Entries from Pinehurst will no doubt include Miss Carolyn Bogart, who always holds her own in a field of fast players, Miss Esther Tufts, Miss Judith Jenks, Miss Rice and Miss Swoope, sister of Mr. H. B. Swoope, of Red Gables.

Among the men we find William Tilden, 2nd, heading the list. This Pinehurst favorite bows to nobody in the tennis world, unless it be W. M. Johnson. These two paired in doubles, it will be remembered, took the measure of Brookes and Patterson when the latter players invaded the United States, and without doubt with practice would become the greatest team in the world. Young Vincent Richards, who with Tilden won in the doubles in the April tournament last year, is here again to help defend the title.

S. H. Voshell seems to be staging a come-back in the tennis world. Last year he played with Kumagae in Pinehurst. This year he will probably be paired with Harold Throckmorton in the doubles event. Samuel Hardy, the prominent Chicago player, will be on hand together with J. D. E. Jones of Providence, R. I., who is at home on the Pinehurst courts. Mr. S. W. Merrihew, editor and proprietor of the American Lawn Tennis Journal, is already in Pinehurst and will contend in the tournament, and Mr. Edwin F. Torrey, President of the American Lawn Tennis Association is on hand. The tournament will be conducted by Mr. Croker, who has had charge of previous tournaments in Pinehurst. The list of entries among the men players includes F. C. Baggs, Kenneth Simmons, H. C. Wick, Jr., R. B. Bidwell, Julian Myrick, N. R. Sinclair, R. E. Rowse, A. H. Chapin, Jr., Norman Johnson, Fred A. Otis, J. M. Newton, F. W. Lambeth, R. B. Weeden, Sigmund Spaethe, Harvey Flint, Louis Graves, Gregory S. Bryan, Arthur Sweetser, Carlton Schaefer and H. W. Ballou.

Events include Men's Singles, Women's Singles, Men's Doubles, Mixed Doubles. There are prizes for Winner and Runner-up in Men's Singles, a Cup for the Women's Singles and Sterling Trophy for runner-up; also sterling trophies for winners in Men's Doubles and in Mixed Doubles.

ANNIE OAKLEY

ANNIE OAKLEY has promised her help in entertaining the patients at the Sanatorium, near Montrose, N. C.; she will motor over on Thursday of this week for the purpose of giving a little exhibition of her shooting skill. Annie Oakley is always to be counted on in aiding worthy causes. It will be remembered that she recently gave an exhibition at the Gun Club for the benefit of the Farm Life School at Eureka, N. C., another Sand Hill institution of interest to visitors from the North, and by the sale of marked pennies, autographs, etc., raised considerably over $100.00 for the school.

Others who have contributed their services to entertain at the hospital are Mr. James Doyle, who recently staged for the patients a little vaudeville show of his own, and Miss Blake and Miss McKenzie, who sang a number of times and have been warmly received.

These little entertainments are under the patronage of Mrs. Leonard Tufts, who is indefatigable in good work of this kind throughout Moore and the adjoining Counties.
