

The Week in Pinehurst

Donald Ross Driving from the First Tee. Course Number Two

The outstanding episode of the week has been the amateur-pro match between Ouimet and Adair on the one hand and French and Mothersele on the other, and Pinehurst is still talking about the triumph of the pros. Ouimet himself describes the match as one of the hardest of his life and it has certainly been a long while since Pinehurst witnessed the like of it. The main point is that Ouimet went over the Championship Course in 71 and did not win a single hole, and Emmett French, Southern Pines and Youngstown professional, made a record of 67 for the course, coming in with a score of 31. Three years ago Mike Brady had a 67 on this course, but alterations since then have made the course much more difficult.

Adair went around in 37-37-74, but did not get in on any hole except to halve the first when Ouimet took a five, missing a two foot putt. Owing to a downpour of rain the night before, the greens were very slow; this resulted in many missed putts for the amateurs. The professionals displayed better teamwork and secured their victory by a margin of 5 and 3, with an astonishing best ball of 63 against their opponent's 70. Practically speaking, Ouimet's round was the best ball for his side. Mothersele came to the rescue of French on four crucial occasions during the match, and on the 17th hole scored a beautiful two.

Mr. A. P. Hawley, of New York City, is at the Carolina for a few weeks stay.

Mrs. Geo. N. Towle entertained at dinner at the Berkshire April 3rd.

Mr. James P. Doyle, night clerk at the Carolina, has added further to his reputation as a vaudeville artist by his second entertainment at the Sanatorium at Montrose, given last week for the diversion of the patients. His efforts were warmly received, and he was ably assisted by Miss Marjorie McKenzie, who rendered a number of pleasing vocal selections. Miss Maud Radcliff was a member of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Castle who are well-known in our island possession of Hawaii, are registered at the Carolina for an indefinite stay.

Mr. K. Jones of Aberdeen, N. C., was a guest of Mr. J. D. Baker, Jr., at lunch last Saturday night at the Berkshire.

Among those giving dinners at the Carolina last week we noticed Mr. Clark Crocker, Mrs. Weyerhauser, Mr. I. D. Kelley, Mr. Phillips, Captain Bryan, Mr. Channing Wells, Mr. Blancke, Miss Colgate, Mr. J. M. Scott, Mrs. Tracy Lewis and Mrs. W. A. Gavin.

The tennis stars are beginning to reach Pinehurst this week. The entries for this tournament are exceptionally good and there is every indication that this tournament will rival in interest the Golfer's North and South, which is saying a good deal in a golfing community. The Throckmortons are at the Carolina, together with Miss Edith Sigourney, who lost the Indoor Championship last week to Helen Pollak and Miss Marion Zinderstein, a player well-known in Pinehurst. Other stars out on the courts daily are a trio registered at the Berkshire. Messrs. Bidwell, Sweetser and Croker. Richard Harte is resting in South Carolina, and since he has sworn not to touch a racket while in the South he may not contend in the Pinehurst tourney.

Forbes Wilson, son of Willie Wilson, Pinehurst and York Harbour golf professional, celebrated his tenth birthday by defeating his father by four up in the course of a match in which Wilson, senior, allowed the youngster two strokes on the long holes and one stroke on the short ones. Willie went around in the low seventies, but the little fellow seized the lead at the start by winning the first hole in par and the next three in a stroke over par and robbed his father of a half on the fourteenth by gathering in a birdie four on that hole.

The playing of Mrs. W. A. Gavin in the Women's North and South was very closely watched in Pinehurst. She ran away with the consolation of the first division, sweeping Mrs. E. E. Harwood off her feet in the finals, with a score of 7 and 5, showing a 39 for the outward journey, and denying the Chicago favorite the satisfaction of winning a single hole of the match.

George Ade, America's popular humorist and author of Fables in Slang, is making a protracted stay at the Carolina, having come up from Bellair last week. He is accompanied by his old friend and companion Mr. O. C. Wells of Chicago.

Just previous to their departure for the North the W. E. Truesdells entertained at the Holly Inn at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross and Miss Lillian Ross.

We have just been reading about the Chicago blizzard and the zero temperatures prevailing in the Middle West. Trains are hours late, wires are down and Chicago is snowed under and we are sorry for those people who left Pinehurst for the North last week.

Miss Louise Van Wagenen of Rome, N. Y., delighted her audience at the Carolina at the Sunday evening concert with two charming songs by Vernon Eville, and a popular encore, "Long, Long Ago." Miss Van Wagenen's voice is rich and resonant in quality, beautifully modulated, and handled with the skill and assurance of a true artist.

Alec Ross, he of the mighty swipe and brilliant, casual putt, has left for Northern links, which he probably finds buried in a mantle of snow.

A wonderful thing occurred at the Children's Easter Egg Hunt on the Village Green. While about one hundred of Pinehurst's little citizens were hunting for eggs on the green, a sure-nuff Bunny Rabbit popped up out of the thicket and dashed off down through the pine trees to a place where he would not be disturbed. No doubt in many a little mind there is a dark and mysterious connection between that rabbit and the Easter eggs.

Miss Margaret Ivanivious of Brooklyn, N. Y., is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Shreve.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Brown of Montclair, N. J., are the first in Pinehurst to shut up their winter home and make tracks for the bleak New Jersey shore.

Clinton Scollard, the poet, has left for Asheville, N. C.

Mr. E. G. Fitzgerald, the popular manager of the Holly Inn, ventured out on Course Number 3 the other day. In playing his second shot on the 18th hole his Colonel 31 collided with a large robin in mid-air. The robin was killed instantly, and Mr. Fitzgerald's opponent was forced to concede him a birdie on that hole, which won the match.

There is no sign of a waning season at the Holly Inn. The house is full and on Tuesday night the special dancing attracted a large number of the hotel guests and a representative number of the cottage colony.

On Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Pierce entertained at bridge Mr. and Mrs. Eberhard Faber, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Waterhouse and Mr. C. L. Becker.
