TOP DRESSING PUTTING GREENS
 The old time compost pile made with manure, sand and soil is becoming obsolete and is being discarded by the majority of Golf Clubs in favor of Prepared Top Dressing which comes ready to apply. It takes two years before a compost pile is fit for use. It is costly, even when all the ingredients are at hand, and absolutely impracticable if they must be purchased. The labor of turning and screening is also expensive. The automobile has reduced the quantity and increased the price of manure. Manure is a carrier of disease germs and weed seeds. Shavings for bedding and strong disinfectants in stables, mean death to grass.

The Alphano Humus Company's corps of experts have made an intense study of this problem for many years. The result is, their Prepared Top Dressing for Putting Greens—a scientifically balanced grass food, inoculated with billions of Nitrogen gathering bacteria. It is delivered in the right condition for top dressing. Greens just as unloaded from car. The finest Putting Greens in America today owe their perfection to Prepared Top Dressing periodically applied with no interference with the play. To be always positive that the grass seeds best adapted to the locality and climatic conditions are sown in connection with Prepared Top Dressing, to insure results certain of satisfaction, The Alphano Humus Company has effected selling arrangements with the largest grass seed exporters and importers of the world and can furnish grass seeds of the proper variety, of guaranteed purity and highest germination tests.

If you will write The Alphano Humus Company, 17 Battery Place, New York City for Circular "K," it will give you full particulars regarding their Golf Course Service, without obligation.

Berkshire boom begun at Pinehurst, and the Ayrshire dairy is one of the model institutions and patterns. The Pinehurst cattle and hogs have extended out over the state with marked benefit.

The North and South have come together at Pinehurst. The Pinehurst fair is one of the most unique things of its kind in the country. It brings a more cosmopolitan crowd of greater numbers from everywhere to a little village to see more unusual things in such a place than any thing else of its kind. But the big feat at Pinehurst is not those that are counted by fine homes and big hotels and things of that sort, but the fine humanity in the mixing of people of every sort from everywhere that is fit to be represented. Last winter an occasional gathering of interested men afforded the opportunity for informal talks by individuals who took up popular themes, and some of the most eminent men in nearly every great occupation were found at Pinehurst to speak of things in which they were authorities and perfectly familiar. The New York banker, the Pittsburg manufacturer, the Cleveland lawyer, the college professor, the ship owner, anybody, can be called for at Pinehurst to tell something of the significance of the daily movements of business or social life and he is on hand to answer to his name. Few subjects are mentioned but have some eminent authority to expound them. And women and children and the old folks are at Pinehurst, too.

Twenty-five years has not only made Pinehurst the interesting place it is, but that quarter of a century has shown that when James Tufts made his deal with the Pages he opened a new world. He found the basis for Pinehurst, but also for a wholly new proposition in reclamation of what had been looked on as a waste corner of creation. His was what the inventors call generic, when speaking of patents. It involved a territory. It disclosed the hidden possibilities of a Sahara, and showed the world that creation had no waste material. The sandy soil of the Midland counties of North Carolina fit in with the climate. Neither would be perfection without the other. Together they constitute what the North has been wanting for its winter home and recreation ground. Therefore it is evident that no matter what Pinehurst is to be it has just begun, for it has not yet provided for the thousands of people who are yet to discover the place. Big as the realization is it is small yet beside the dream that turns to the future. It seems clear to me that Pinehurst will be one populous avenue from the orchards to the west of the village out through the Midlands farms and Knollwood to the limits of Camp Bragg east of Southern Pines, and that here will be a social and military home center that will be as nearly ideal as can be found. My reasons are that a start has been made, and that the climate and soil and convenience to the North are all combined. That much will work out the plans itself, and make the most of them.
