BOOST FOR PINEHURST

At the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Golf Association, held at the Racquet Club in New York on Tuesday evening of this week, it was declared in open session that the professional golfers got such substantial prizes at Pinehurst they sneezed at the offerings in the Metropolitan open, and accordingly it was voted to mark up dues $10. a year so as to better compete with the resort courses.

Indicative of the demand for housing accommodations in Pinehurst is the news that all offices and rooms in the new Bank building have been rented. The new bank was completed just a month ago.

A Window Display

in New York which is creating considerable interest is that of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad's City Ticket Office on Forty-Second Street. Mr. S. B. Murdock Division Passenger Agent of that road has fitted up the window with all Pinehurst articles, including the Pinehurst Golf Ball, the Pinehurst Golf Shoe, the Pinehurst Pipe and Pinehurst prizes. For the holidays Mr. Murdock has requested some Pinehurst holly, mistletoe and evergreens which abound in this section and which will be sent him.

"More Activity In Moore County Than Anywhere Else in America."

That is the way James Boyd expressed himself on his return to the Sandhills a couple of weeks ago.

He looked at the new buildings under way, the orchard expansion, the road improvement, and the general and striking evidences of progress and industry everywhere in the region, and said emphatically that he had seen nowhere in the North, East or West anything to compare with it.

Then another Sign:

Tourists are arriving a little earlier this year, And they are coming in numbers.

More associations are picking Pinehurst for their meeting place. State and National events at Pinehurst are becoming more numerous. The New Houses built during the Year are Bringing more People.

Pinehurst of this winter is showing its regular 25 per cent advance over all previous years, and the record of the past is always the indication of the future.

This is the time to secure a Pinehurst location.
