THE DOG SHOW

Franc's famous Pegingese, Glen Iris Dai Dhu and Glen Irish Dai Glo, swept most everything before them in the Pegingese classes.

LOCALLY OWNED DOGS

The locally owned dogs gave a good account of themselves. A Dalmatian dog owned by Capt. W. W. Cowgill was said by the judges to be the best seen in many years. Miss Anna Belle MacNab's Scottish Terrier, Tam-O'-Tam, won first in one class, second in another and third in another. Charles H. Banes' Bull Terrier, Dumb Bell, carried off the prize in the local sporting dogs class, 25 pounds and over, and was unanimously admired. Mrs. L. F. F. Wanner's Asta Aldinger, an unusually fine Shepherd dog, was awarded best in show for that breed, and Mrs. George W. Statzell's Greystock Boola was awarded second in the Novice class.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Kennel Club following the show it was unanimously decided to omit best of all breeds in future shows at Pinehurst and in the place of that feature all the winners of various breeds will be paraded in the ring collectively for public exhibition. Dr. J. E. DeMund, who was on hand as one of the judges at the Pinehurst show, was very favorably impressed with the idea, feeling, as he said, that it was an impossible thing for any judge to determine the best of all breeds.

The show was under the management of Mr. George M. Foley of Philadelphia, and to him much credit is due for the huge success of the affair. In addition to the money prizes a handsome aggregation of special prizes were donated by numbers of dog fanciers. The judges were Messrs. Thomas Shaleross of Providence, R. I., American Fox Hounds and Beagles; Frank Reily, Medford, N. J., English Setters; Dr. J. E. DeMund, Brooklyn, N. Y., Irish Setters, Cocker Spaniels, Chow Chows, Airedales, Fox Terriers, Irish Terriers, West Highland White Terriers, Pomeranians Pekingese, Miscellaneous, Variety classes, unclassified special prizes, Alfred L. Flesh, Piqua, Ohio, Shepherd dogs; and J. C. Weiler, Kingsport, Tenn., Pointers.

The officers of the club elected at the annual meeting during the show are: President, Harry D. Kirkover; Vice-President, C. T. Crocker; Secretary-Treasurer, Leonard Tufts; Executive committee, W. H. J. Robertson, Mrs. Sidney Franc, Walter W. Lindley, P. H. Powell, and Mrs. Leo F. F. Wanner.
