DONALD ROSS CAN STILL SWAT THE BALL

Donald Ross is a very busy man these days and too much engaged in golf course architecture to devote much time to playing, but if anybody thinks he can't still hit the ball with that sure and steady swing that brought him laurels in days gone by, let them look over the following card which he scored on Number 3 course this week.

Donald was partnered with Henry Hornblower of Boston, in a friendly little match against Willie Wilson and Wm. V. Kellen, and sauntered over the eighteen holes in 71, his side winning by the comfortable margin of 6 up on the two-points-a-hole system of scoring. Incidentally, it was in this same match that Wilson sank a mashie shot for a 2 at the 340-yard seventh.

Donald's card was:

Out—	444	333	444—33
In—	455	444	453—38—71

WALTER HAGEN DEFEATS THREE OPPONENTS

In the course of a four-ball match played over the championship course this week, Walter Hagen, former open champion, gave J. W. Daly of New York, six bisques, Alex McLoud of Bramshot, England, and John Krueger of Maplewood, a stroke a hole each and defeated all three opponents. Walter has been going great guns the past few weeks and says his clubs are just beginning to feel right.

Bert Nicoll, of the Belmont Spring Club, is another professional at Pinehurst that is playing in excellent form. Nicoll was paired with Brick Small in an all-professional match during the week and defeated Fred Miley, Holmstead, and Pat Murphy, Salem, 2 and 1. His individual round of 71 was the low ball of the match.

P. H. Gaither, Greensburg, Pa., Mr. William Barr, New York, Mr. P. King, New Kensington, Pa., Mrs. Hurd and Mr. Geo. Crocker, Fitchburg, Mass., were the prize winners.

Mrs. C. F. Dow of Detroit, and Helen Mary, their little daughter, have joined Mr. Dow at the Holly Inn. Lawrence, their son, is at school at Southern Pines, so the family are again united, as Mr. Dow came down early in the season with Lawrence.

The George Towles certainly do entertain delightfully and often, for the George Howards were their guests at dinner last week. The table was bright with calandulas, and after a well chosen dinner, auction was in order. Small affairs are often the most happy, and this was not an exception.

When the discriminating traveler thinks "Philadelphia" instinctively comes the mental echo "Bellevue Stratford." It is the personification of what a guest has a right to expect in a great hotel of to-day.
