The First Chicken in the Garden Gets the Chance at the Early Seed

As Poor Richard would say if he ever planted a garden or had any experience with his neighbor's chickens. But whether he said it or not there is the raw material for one of the basic proverbs of human existence.

The fellows who come in last can't get a seat in the front row unless nobody wants seats there.

The early man gets the next choice of a lot in Knollwood village. He has all that is there to choose from. The first ten to build houses have the benefit of a refund on price.

It is always the man on the ground soon after the door opens that gets a select place inside.

The cat that licks the bottom of the pitcher does not get much of the cream.

A few buyers will secure a location on the Crest road at Knollwood village. They will be proud of that location as long as they live. But these men will not delay too long in making their selections.

To-day is a pretty good time to take up the matter with

AMATEURS DEFEAT PROS IN EXHIBITION MATCH

One of the largest galleries of the season turned out on Sunday afternoon to follow the amateur-professional match between Donald Parson and Lucien Walker, and Joe Capello and Harold Callaway, which finished all even on the eighteenth hole. The pros were dormie 2 at the sixteenth, but both were trapped at the seventeenth and lost to Parson's 3. The amateurs squared the match when both professionals failed to reach the eighteenth green on their third shot and lost the hole to a 4. Callaway's 76 was the best individual round of the match. Callaway and Capello are youngsters from the golf shop at Pinehurst and give much promise of developing into golfers of the first flight, and their showing against two of the leading amateurs here boosted their stock considerably. The match will probably be repeated on Sunday next.

ANNIE OAKLEY SCORES RECORD OF 98 TARGETS

Annie Oakley, famous markswoman and the stellar attraction of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show for a number of years, who is instructing the ladies at Pinehurst in the art of shooting, indicated on Saturday last that she has lost none of her magic with firearms when she broke 98 targets out of 100 thrown from the 16-yard line.

Miss Oakley missed only her fifty-first and sixty-seventh birds, thereby having an unbroken run of fifty birds to start with and ended with an unbroken run of thirty-three.
