Cafe des Invalides

Compounded

This compound is not all coffee, but contains about seven-eighths coffee, of the finest grades, blended with vegetable substances, which have been found to render it more healthful than pure coffee, in that it does not produce nervousness or wakefulness.

"CAFE DES INVALIDES" does not produce the usual effects.

Yet "CAFE DES INVALIDES" pleases the most critical coffee connoisseurs.

KNICKERS FOR THE FAIR ONES

BY SANDY MCNIBLICK

There used to be a whole flock of difference between a good man golfer and a good woman golfer. It used to be plain in the swings. It's not any more. It used to be plainer in the difference in distance and scores. Not so perceptible any more.

And if you couldn't tell the difference any other way, hang it, there was always the dress. But even this distinction is being overruled. Hizzoner adopted knickerbockers many years since as the official dress of a golfing mule. Now Milady is stepping out in the same togs. Last year it started as a fad. This year the threat is that it will develop into a custom.

Continental voyagers returning to this side report that through Italy, Spain, Egypt, France and even Great Britain it is no uncommon sight while scooting overland on the trains past golf courses in Europe to spy a fair golfer clad in knickers.

In fact they say it's quite the thing over there now. No one thinks anything of it. Nobody turns around to have another look. Knickers are now officially adopted over yonder and if knickers are the style in Europe, it's a cinch they'll be the style here.

Knickers for ladies reminds one of officers returning from France and those over here. They all wanted to wear Sam Brown belts. They all had 'em. All they waited for was official sanction.

Fair golfers appear to be in the same fix. There'll be no official sanction of course, other than somebody starting it. That's the thing.

Consider the plight of a fair entry for the women's national championship at Hollywood last year. All dressed up in knickers and no place to play. She bought the handsomest knickers available and took the precaution of a skirt to match.

It was evident, after a preliminary peek, that the fair sex were not going to wear them in the championship. But this hopeful player wore 'em anyhow, with the skirt overall. The only satisfaction she got was to have her picture taken by a movie man who had her doff the skirt and go through a few cuts at the ball. A crowd gathered and the daring player hastily hid behind the dignity of her skirt again.

In the crowds waiting for the train one day in the Grand Central Station, New York, a modest young thing was the center of considerable attraction. She was very—very fair. Furthermore she was garbed in a sky-blue outfit with knickers as a feature. Under her arm she carried a small bag of golf clubs which showed what it was all about. Even then no one could believe it. Thought she was an ad for a clothing store.

These scattered attempts to introduce knickers for feminine golfers have gone big.

And for some reason or other, these are the hitches against feminine breeches.

REMARKABLE GOLF BY A YOUNGSTER

George T. Dunlap, Jr., the thirteen year-old lad who won the Junior tournament at Pinehurst last season and this, added another great round to his achievements this week by negotiating the full 18 holes over Number 1 course in 80, all putts holed out.

George was playing with his father and started early in the morning when the course was heavy from the showers the night before. This made the run-up shots very difficult and caused him to lose at least three shots on the outward journey. He made the turn in 44, then came flying home on a drying out course in 36. His inward journey included a 3, seven 4's and a 5.

For a thirteen-year-old boy who weighs probably not more than seventy-five pounds, it was certainly a remarkable performance.

His card:

Out—	6 5 5 5 3 4 6 5—44
In—	4 3 4 4 4 4 4 5—36—80

FRENCH AND SCOFIELD

Defeat Yates and Walker in Exhibition Match

Emmet French and E. L. Scofield defeated Arthur Yates and Lucien Walker, 5 and 3, in a best-ball match over the Number 2 course on Sunday last. The winners had a best-ball of 36-35—71 as against 39-37—76 for Yates and Walker. French's round of 74 was the best individual score of the match, and included a putt from off the green at the eighteenth for a 3. Walker had a birdie on the third hole, and holed a 30-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the fourteenth.
