NORTH AND SOUTH TRAPSHOOT UNDER WAY

The annual mid-April North and South Trapshooting tournament got under way on Monday last with the shooting of a hundred-target event at sixteen yards, and the Pinehurst Introductory, a handicap event of one hundred targets, and will continue daily throughout the week.

U. R. Brooks of Columbia, S. C., Southern Zone Chairman of the American Trapshooting Association and winner of the Preliminary Handicap at Pinehurst in January, led the field in the first day's shooting when he registered 98 breaks in the sixteen-yard event.

This event constituted the Maplewood hundred and Brooks' victory gave him a winner's certificate to take part in the New Hampshire shoot in July.

Col. John M. Morehead of Charlotte, won first alternate for that event by reason of finishing second, at 94, and M. S. Kemmerer of Asley, Pa., will serve as second alternate.

B. V. Covert, of Lockport, N. Y., and H. A. Morson, North Carolina State Champion wound up in a tie at 93 for chief honors in the introductory handicap.

Covert shot from the nineteen-yard mark and Morson two yards further back. On the shoot-off of the tie Morson broke nineteen out of twenty as against eighteen for Covert and won first money and the trophy.

In the special double target event, A. W. Montgomery, a Spartanburg, S. C., youngster, who is attending only his second tournament, scored nineteen breaks out of the ten pairs thrown, and outdistanced his nearest opponent by three targets.

Another hundred-target event at sixteen yards, and the North and South handicap was shot on Tuesday. The hundred targets in the sixteen-yard event comprised the first half of the sectional team race between the five high guns from the North and five from the South, and the Southern guns gained an edge on the Northern delegation when Colonel Morehead and his son-in-law, H. A. Morson of Charlotte, carried off chief honors and emoluments in that day's shoot.

Colonel Morehead won the North and South handicap after the shoot-off of a triple tie, at 91, with Norwood Johnston of Pittsburg and A. W. Montgomery of Spartanburg. He shot from the twenty-yard line, the maximum distance of the trio, and broke twenty straight on the shoot-off as against nineteen and eighteen respectively for Johnston and Montgomery.

Morson was in a shooting mood that morning and broke 97 of the hundred targets thrown in the sixteen-yard event, which won him the honors and the trophy in the four hundred target general average contest made up of the two hundred targets thrown on Monday and two hundred yards on Tuesday.

THURSDAY'S SHOOT

Wednesday was practice day for the shooters and a 100-target event at sixteen yards served a preliminary for the first half of the State championship and

PEACH BLOSSOMS AT PINEHURST

(The following poem, written by Clinton Scollard, the well-known and much loved poet, appeared in the New York Herald shortly after Mr. Scollard's recent visit to Pinehurst when the peach orchards were in bloom).

Could you behold the bloom of the Pinehurst peaches,
Their delicate crimson stain,
How wave upon wave the ravishing color reaches,
The sense of beauty would be to your heart like pain.

For beauty such as this is a thing supernatural,
A loveliness such as glows
In the sunset's soul when the Southern days are vernal,
And the song of the mockingbird dies to a poignant close.

the Country Club Handicap which were shot on Thursday.

Hugh E. White of Gastonia, led the field in the first half of the championship race with 90 breaks out of the hundred, closely followed by J. Lindsay Morehead of Charlotte, and L. P. Hazel of Durham, at 89. H. A. Morson and Colonel Morehead formed a tie, at 87, for third place. The second half of the championship will be shot on Friday.

The Country Club handicap which was shot in the afternoon, resulted in another victory for Colonel Morehead who shot from the maximum distance of 21 yards and had 86 breaks to his credit. U. R. Brooks, winner of the Maplewood hundred on Monday, A. W. Montgomery and J. H. Dreher formed a triple tie, at 84, for second place.

The two hundred targets in the above events comprised the first half of the high general average race for high guns on the 400 targets thrown on Thursday and Friday.

In the special double-target event, Lester German, a professional shooting for targets, led the delegation with 19 breaks out of ten pairs thrown. Brooks and Martin McVoy, Jr., of New York, outdistanced the amateurs with 15 breaks each.

The scores in the first half of the championship were:

x-J. M. Hawkins	97
x-E. L. Moss	96
x-C. E. Goodrich	95
