

Winners At The Traps

H. J. E. Thomas, of Sharpsburg, Md., won the prize for the best net score in the weekly hundred-target trapshooting tournament this week on the shoot off of a tie, with John Stewart, of Cold Spring Harbor, L. I. Both these shooters registered perfect net scores in the tournament proper and Thomas won the shoot-off, breaking 22 out of 25 as against 19 for Stewart.

B. H. Scott and Margin Line, both of New York, led in actual breaks with 92 and 91 respectively. The leading scores were:

H. J. E. Thomas, Sharpsburg, Md. ....	89-11-100
John Stewart, Cold Spring Harbor, L. I. ....	79-21-100
John Ebberts, Buffalo .....	85-12- 97
B. H. Scott, New York .....	92- 4- 96
Curtis Wiggs, Delaware Water Gap, Pa.....	69-23- 92
Margin Line, New York .....	91- 0- 91

Miss Iretta P. Bush, of Wynecote, Pa., led the field at the rifle shooting contest and won the prize with a high target of 140 out of a possible 150. Mrs. J. H. Stewart, of Cold Spring Harbor, finished second, at 128, and Mrs. J. L. Keogh, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Hudson Budd, of New York, tied, at 115, for third place. Others taking part in the shoot were Mrs. W. M. Zett, of Richmond Hill, who registered 112 breaks, and Mrs. C. H. Brackebush, of Chicago, 105.

North Carolina's Language

the interest and loyalty of every one is American. North Carolina people are North Carolinians, not Poles, Irish, Scandanavians, Italians, Germans, or hyphenated anything.

One of these days when industry has reached the magnitude toward which it is swiftly heading it is likely that the mill and factory population of North Carolina will be the most desirable mill and factory population in the world, for it will be of the soil, a part of the community, a home-owing and integral factor of the state and township, with American ambitions, and no hereditary interests in any other country on earth. Where the North Carolina hand works for the North Carolina employer, where both talk the same language, where each knows the other, and where both are citizens, born citizens, mind you, which is actual citizens, of the community, where both are living where they and theirs before them have been of the community, it will be different than where a string of fifty or a hundred foreigners are hired by the bunch and designated by numbers and herded in slume to stay until they have gathered enough money to go back to the old world of Europe.

Think of that when you go out the road again for a drive, or when you ramble along the village ways, or when you are on the North Carolina trains. You are in an atmosphere of a little more than 99 per cent. United States, with the sentiment and the ambition and the habits and customs United States, and that is one of the reasons why the big industries of New England are turning toward North Carolina. The desire to get closer to the true type of American patriotism, philosophy, progress and civilization is starting an exodus of New England capital to the North Carolina region, where American influences are still free from the many objectionable theories and practices that have come into much of the North with the unassimilable bulk of foreign immigration, and which is becoming a problem for the New England and the Middle states which they do not know how they are going to solve.
