Men of Money And Business Ability

are steadily taking more interest in affairs in this section.

Big men who come to Pinehurst for recreation notice the possibilities for conservative investment, and they combine business with their holiday engagement.

Here and there, on all sides, in all directions around Pinehurst new operations of various sorts arise with new names of ownership.

A home at Pinehurst is becoming a business and strategic point as well as a winter rest retreat. Enough business to be interesting, but far enough from the actual responsibilities to be free from the grind. And only a night out from New York when you want to make a hurry trip.

Some choice locations there north of the Carolina.
