

Notes of the Week

THE Holly Inn was the scene of great festivity on Wednesday evening last when a Fancy Dress Ball was held. The grand march was imposingly marshalled by J. Hoyt Gallup as the "cop" of the day. The costumes were many and varied and cleverly chosen. Miss Ethel Lemont and Mrs. J. L. Bauer, Messrs. D. W. Smith and Robert Foote were the judges and after much deliberation awarded the first men's prize to the order-loving policeman, Mr. Gallup. Miss Jane Nolan, who was dressed in a resplendent Turkish costume, won the lady's first prize, and second prize was awarded to Miss Florence Stanton who originated the "lemon" costume. Mr. C. J. Hand, as Captain Kidd, carried off the second prize for men.

On Friday evening a Fashion Show for the benefit of the Community school was staged in The Carolina ball room. The gowns for the occasion were contributed by the Pinehurst shop of Solov Hinds, of Boston, and were displayed in stylish fashion by the following young ladies who served as models: The Misses Winifred and Eleanor Croft, Miss Genevieve White, Miss Cochran, Miss Mary T. Allderdice, Miss Clapp and Miss Helen Butterfield. Miss Charles W. Picquet sang several songs and Hon. Martin G. Brumbaugh, former Governor of Pennsylvania, made the appeal as to "why" the occasion, netting close to $300.00.

THE CAROLINA ORCHESTRA, UNDER THE LEADERSHIP OF WILEY POPE SWIFT, WHOSE DELIGHTFUL MUSIC IS ONE OF THE CHARMS OF PINEHURST'S ENTERTAINMENT FEATURES.

There were fourteen tables of bridge at the Monday morning card party at the Carolina this week. The prize winners were Mrs. C. H. Williamson, Mrs. S. H. Patterson, Mrs. Horace Hager, Mrs. T. P. Gilman, Mrs. F. W. Agan, Mrs. E. L. Hollingshead, Mrs. S. Marvle, Mrs. W. N. Homer and Mrs. Henry B. Swoope.

Mrs. W. H. Cane entertained at dinner at her cottage, Casa Blanca, on Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mower and Mr. and Mrs. R. Percy Thompson, of New York, her house-guests, and Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem.

Dr. and Mrs. George P. Norton, of Fitchburg, Mass., entertained at dinner for a number of friends at the Holly Inn on Wednesday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hand, of Orange, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. G. Mitchell, of Montclair; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cookman, of Fitchburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carney, of Gardner, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gallup, of Syracuse, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bauer, of Elizabeth.
