Havers and Ockenden Coming

GOLF at Pinehurst will take on an international aspect next week when Arthur Havers, British open golf champion, and Jim Ockenden, French open champion, who are coming to the United States for a series of exhibition matches, will play their first match on American soil at Pinehurst, according to a statement given out this week by Donald Ross, superintendent of the Pinehurst Country Club.

These famous golfers will meet Joe Capello and Alex Ross in a 36-hole event on Monday, December 24, 18 holes in the morning and 18 in the afternoon, and the event will very likely bring out one of the largest galleries that ever followed a match at Pinehurst. Joe and Alex are well known to Pinehurst habitués and this pair should put up a strong tussle against the foreigners. Joe was very much in the limelight during the recent Amateur-Pro. event and indicated that he is at the top of his form, and Alex, whose achievements in the golfing world are known wherever golf is played, has to his credit any number of individual 66's, 67's and 68's over the Pinehurst courses.

NEW YORK, HARRISBURG, OR PITTSBURG, TO PINEHURST

—Where American History Was Made

Did you ever think that a visit to Pinehurst is a study of American history.

From the West and Northwest roads converge at Pittsburg, the old Fort Duquesne, where commenced a war that involved all of American and European civilization.

At New York and Philadelphia the Revolutionary War made every foot of ground historic.

From Gettysburg, Chambersburg and Harrisburg, down through Washington, through Virginia, the Wilderness, Richmond, Petersburg, through the Valley, the Civil War wrote history, and near Durham the conflict terminated with the surrender of Johnson.

At Pinehurst the fringe of Sherman's army on the memorable march passed by, and at Southern Pines Sherman covered the country.

With your winter home at Southern Pines, an automobile journey back and forth in fall and spring affords the most fascinating drive through the most interesting country in the world.

Secure a home or a building site in Pinehurst and read the history of the nation as you journey back and forth.
