Mayor Opposition Sparks County Vote

JACKSON — Incumbent mayors in two of Northampton's towns will face opposition in Tuesday, May 4, town elections. For the first time in the history of Rich Square two Negro candidates will appear on the ballot for commissioners.

There is opposition in Gaston and Rich Square for the mayor's post, and plenty of opposition for seats on the town boards of those two towns.

In Seavern, Mayor Rufus Johnson is unopposed and so are the town commissioners. In Woodland there is no opposition for mayor, however five men will run on the ballot for the four commissioner seats. In Jackson only one person has filed for the mayor's post, and four have filed for commissioner. In Seaboard there will be one name on the ballot for mayor, and five names for commissioners.

Conway and Lasker held elections last year, the only two towns in the county to hold off-year elections.

In Milwaukee there was no town convention this year and no election has been scheduled. Harry Pantan was elected mayor in that town's last local election, more than seven years ago, and Charlie Pantan serves as town clerk, a post he has held for a number of years.

By towns, the county's local political situation is this as voting begins Tuesday:

RICH SQUARE
Incumbent Mayor Vernon E.

Taylor is opposed by Charles E. Myers. Mayor Taylor is seeking his third term as mayor. Cola Ashe and Joe Gordon are the two Negroes who are candidates for election as town commissioners. Also seeking commissioner seats are Julian Edwards, Jimmy Outland, Charles Warrick, and incumbents Joseph Cole, Eugene Emory, Bill Willford and Mrs. W. L. Mason.

GASTON
Opposing incumbent Mayor Firmman Myrick in Gaston is 34-year-old W. D. (Bam) Moore, super market owner who was an unsuccessful candidate for the post in the 1963 election. Mayor Myrick will be seeking his third term in public office. Candidates See MAYOR, Page 3

WIND DESTRUCTION—The demolished barn shown here is the result of tornado-like winds which struck the Herbert Boyce farm near Rich Square about 5:30 p.m. Friday. Parts of the barn were scattered over an area about 600 yards away.

Hail And Winds Battered Area Friday

RICH SQUARE — Thunderstorms, hail and strong tornado-like winds, coming out of the north, battered an area of Northampton County between Jackson and south of Rich Square toward the junction of highway 258 and 308 late Friday afternoon.

Damages included the destruction of a barn and the top of a large tree on the Herbert Boyce farm, a large tool shed pulled up by its stakes and completely demolished and the roof blown from a tenant house on the Holoman farm at Bryantown. Also, wind caused extensive roof damage to a large cattle barn on the same farm. The Wilson Boone farm at Gumfork lost a shelter. Throughout the area early rains were reported. In many places houses suffered various degrees of roof damage.

On the Joyner Farm at Bryantown hail, about the size of marbles, could be picked up by the handfuls from pockets in tobacco beds.

The wind seemed to have dipped down and skipped over along its path to cause greater damage in spots.

At the Herbert Boyce farm, twelve-year-old Dwight Boyce was working in the field near the house when he realized the severity of the storm and headed for shelter. He had just started the tractor to pull the barn shelter and had just reached the house when the tornado-like winds struck and destroyed the barn, blowing parts of the building over an area six to eight hundred feet away.

Young Boyce said he did not see anything that looked like a tornado approaching, but was very aware of the intensity of the storm and the noise of the strong wind as it approached. Part of the roof of his home was ripped up and his father had to replant.

Received a tip on the still Monday afternoon and when the deputies went to investigate it Tuesday morning, they found it in full operation and made the arrests.

Deputy Sheriff Ingram reported the still apparently had been in operation about two or three weeks.

Located approximately 300 yards away in the woods was a two man tent which the whiskey makers used for lodging when not at the still.

A gallon and a half of the white liquor was found in the tent and also was destroyed.

Others taking part in the destruction of the still were Deputies Grover Parker and J. E. Wheeler.

Large Illegal Liquor Making Plant Destroyed Near Gumberry

GUMBERRY — One of the largest illegal liquor making plants in recent years was raided and destroyed Tuesday, April 20, near here by Northampton County Sheriff's Department personnel.

Two men captured at the still site were placed in the Northampton County jail.

Located approximately 400 yards off of NC 195, the still had a capacity of 200 gallons per day.

The still was located on the property of Mrs. Tommy Stephenson of Garysburg.

Arrested at the still were Frank Rice and George Page, both of Timberlake, N. C.

Sheriff Frank Outland reported it was one of the largest liquor making plants captured by personnel of his department in the last year or so.

Northampton County Deputies Ed Ingram and Billy Sykes and Gaston Police Chief Charlie Ball surprised the two men at the still and immediately placed them under arrest.

Approximately 300 pounds of sugar, 15 cases of half gallon jars and 10 two pound cans of yeast were confiscated in the raid and probably will be turned over to the Northampton County Home.

Destroyed in the raid by dynamite and axes were 38 barrels and an upright steam boiler, two condenser barrels, and one filtering barrel.
