

Martin To Operate Hedspeth Implement

CONWAY - Grady Martin announced on Wednesday that he has purchased the Hedspeth Truck and Implement Company from the Hedspeth family and is now the owner and operator of the Conway business.

The business was founded by L. W. "Billy" Hedspeth and operated for a quarter of a century until his death in 1960.

Martin has been with the company for 14 years and has worked with the Hedspeth family in managing the business since Billy's death.

The company is an International Harvester dealership in farm equipment, trucks and implements.

It maintains a complete repair and service shop for all of its products. Andrew Johnson will return to the company after an absence of some years to be shop foreman.

Other employees are: secretary, Mrs. Rachel Hedspeth; parts manager, Rodney Askew; sales and service, L. W. Flythe and Luther Daughtry; mechanics, Gene Daughtry, Robert Deloatch and James Deloatch.

Bobby Lassiter, a student at NCHS, is a part time employee under a job training program.

In assuming the operation of the company Martin said, "We are now in a position to offer better service to our customers and we invite all of our friends and customers to come and visit us during our sale or at any time."

On the pages of "Your Home Newspaper" the company is featuring advertising offering special bargains at their "Going Into Business Sale" which will be held with prizes and favors during the coming week.

Martin was reared in the Creekville area and is a graduate of Conway High School.

The library at NCHS has the peculiar custom of removing the little card in the pocket in the back of each book when the book is issued to a reader. The librarian and her assistants can get very upset if students persist in carrying off cards and books. If books with cards in them continue to reappear in lockers, a screening committee will be set up at the door to remind the absent-minded. Parents can also assist by reminding students to return library books, especially those containing library cards.

Mr. Gibbs reports that Jerry Colson is showing marked improvement; however, he is still in Roanoke-Chowan Hospital but can travel about the halls in a wheelchair. Cards and letters from NCHS would cheer him up.

Miss Johnson picked the windiest Sunday afternoon of the year to have the NCHS faculty to her house for coffee. Mr. Stokes did his good deed for the day by chasing one lady's hat down the Main Street of Woodland. He caught it.
