THE TIMMER MARKET.

It is a Unique Affair Held at Aberdeen, Scotland.

On the last Wednesday of August every year there is a fair called the "Timmer Market" held in the Castle Square in Aberdeen, Scotland. Some fifty or sixty years ago nothing could be bought at it but wooden articles from which arose the name "Timmer." Now, however, it is the Scotch housewife's last chance of getting her berries for preserving. Every patron of the market knows that after a month the only chance of fruit is gone—hence the rush. Great and small, rich and poor alike turn out.

Booths, set to the best advantage and numbering perhaps two hundred, are arranged in rows, ample room being left for the buyers and pleasure-seekers between. Fruit stalls, old clothes dealers, shooting ranges, wheels of fortune—everything to make a penny can be found there. Schools and colleges have no recognized holiday on that Wednesday, yet the average "med" is a regular attendant. Up and down he parades, blowing his trumpet in the face of everyone he meets and looking the very picture of happiness, although past the age of three.

By seven o'clock the "tarry rope" lamps are lit and the fun commences. Country "bumpkins" fetch their "lasses" and buy them candy and pears or whatever is wished for; provided that the cost does not exceed sixpence. The elite of both sexes mix with the crowd and "treat," the one the other. When all is about sold out the students start for home with a rush, upsetting the stalls as they go. Nothing, of course, is said by the police, it being "Timmer" day. Should any one be so absent-minded as to forget the months and the days thereof, he has no doubt whatever, from the head-splitting noise, of the last Wednesday in August.

Odds and Ends.

When a puglist is knocked out in the first round life to him is surely not one round of pleasure.

"Don't strike a man when he is down," says the Manayunk Philosopher. "The chances are he hasn't anything, anyhow."

"I have followed the sea for 30 years," said the man with the weather-beaten face. "And have you never caught up with it?" asked the sly, pale young man.

The one crop that never fails is the dead beat crop.
