MR. GONZALES.

Editor Gonzales, of the Columbia State, who was shot a few days ago by Lieut. Governor J. H. Tillman, died on the 19th instant. If we had space at our disposal, we could fill a page, in commendation of Gonzales, but not a word for his murderer. All men are equal before the law—let justice be done though the heavens fall. A thousand lives of Tillman cannot atone for the loss of N. G. Gonzales, one of the South's ablest editors and one of her noblest citizens.

We take the following from the Charlotte Observer.

That part of the public which was made acquainted yesterday with the news of the death of Mr. N. G. Gonzales, late editor of the Columbia State, was not unprepared for it, and to that part which the intelligence will reach for the first time today it will not be a surprise. The tragedy was one of the most shocking and most lamentable in the history of the South. It were needless to characterize it for what it was—every reader of the story has already stamped it as it deserves, and no array of adjectives directed at the slayer or the deed can re-animate the clay from which a brave, proud spirit has taken flight. His country, and especially his State, is poorer today for the death of N. G. Gonzales, for neither is so rich in men of brain and courage and character that any can be spared. All these qualities had Mr. Tillman's victim in rich abundance. The public will miss him much: his profession, in which, in the South, his equals can be counted on the fingers of one hand, will miss the inspiration of his pen. It was a sad day which witnessed his death; a sombre event his passing. We offer to those immediately bereaved the assurance of sincere condolence, and drop the curtain.—Charlotte Observer.

How to Fatten a Poor Horse

For fattening and giving life and strength to a horse or mule in poor condition one 25-cent package of Ashcraft's Condition Powders is equal to 10 bushels of corn. The powder by correcting the digestion creates a healthy appetite, then all the food is assimilated and nothing passes through the animal undigested.

Ashcraft's Condition Powders is a strictly high grade preparation and every stockman who uses it gets full value for his money.

"I had an old horse in very bad condition generally. He was thin and had a blood disease which was causing the hair to come off. I gave the horse three doses of Ashcraft's Condition Powders a day for 7 days and fed him liberally. The appetite of the animal improved from the first few doses and he gained 52 pounds in flesh during the week, and he was made almost a new horse. I most heartily recommend Ashcraft's Condition Powders.—C. C. SIZAS, Liveryman and Farmer, Monroe, N. C." 25c. Package. Sold by
