At the beginning of the interview the old long Turkish pipes were brought in and then Baron Haussman began making a very long speech in French. The grand visier could not understand a word, but listened most attentively till he noticed that his pipe had gone out and clapped his hand for a nervant to come and relight it. Haussmann, thisking he was applauding, rushed thinking he was applauding, rushed toward him with outstratched hand, intending to shake hands and thank him. The grand visier, seeing his hand put forth, shook it warmly and mild "Good-by," under the impression it was Haussman's intention to leave, and quitted the room.

"GET CLOSE," WROTE NELSON.

His Theories of Sea Fighting. Our slang phrase, "Get Next," ap-pears slightly paraphrased in a letter written by Lord Nelson to Lord War-wick not long before the battle of Traalgar. Nelson had received from Lord Warwick a description of an invention that aimed to increase the efficiency of the marino and field artillery of the day, and to the letter containing that description the victor of the Nile re-plied in the following, which was never published until a few weeks ago, when the present Lord Warwick read it at a public dinner:

"My Dear Lord-I feel very much bliged for the favor of your letter, and although I am not a good judge of mechanism, yet dare say your inven-tion for making cannon range their shots farther than at present will answer your expectations, and on shore, in particular, it will be most useful. Woolwich is the only place where such an experiment can be plainly tried by scientific men. On board ship our wish is to get as close as possibl to the enemy. Always endeavor to incuicate the doctrine, 'Get close, and you will be the victor.'"

The "Get close" was underscored. That one phrase admirably summed up the whole Nelsonian theory of sea strategy, the theory that led him to dare the guns of the shore batteries at Copenhagen and to sail the Victory silently down the fine of binning French and Spanish broadsides until she reached her desired place in the thickest of the most memorable sea

Washington, Special. - Postmaster General Payne forwarded to the Senate all the papers in the case of the Indianola, Miss., postoffice, which postoffice was discontinued by the administration because of the forced abandonment of the office by its negro postmistress, Minnie V. Cox. The correspondence shows that A. B. Weeks, a brother-in-law of Mayor Davis, of In-dianols, began his candidacy for the postoffice as against the negro incumcent as far back as April 1, 1902, when he began sending a long series of letters and tolegrams to the Department. The papers include an extract from a letter of a postoffice official dated February 23, 1983, narrating a conversation which, it states, took place at Biloxi, Mis. In this letter Mayor Davis sation which, it states, took place at Biloxi, Mis. In this letter Mayor Davis of Indiancia, is quoted as saying that if Minnie Cox should again take charge of the Indiancia postoffice "uhe would get her neck broken inside of two hours." On January 3, last, John C. Dangherty, United thates special attorney at New Orleans, telegraphed to assistant Attorney General Pradt, at Washington, that there are numerons neared county and municipal officers serving under Democratic administrations through the Bouthern States. Mayor Davis, of Indianola, wrote the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General on January 3 lest, requesting copies of all letters written the Department regarding the postoffice and stated that the postmaster was requested by all of the citizens to continue in. office, Fourth Assistant Postmaster Bristow declined to furnish the copies of the letters. The correspondence shows that A. B. Weeks wrote the Department asyeral letters during last April, in one of which he requested that he be appointed at once, and in a letter dated May 30, 1962, he stated that he was anxious to get the appointment, supplementing this on June 2 with a letter urging his own appointment and giving reasons why it should be made. On September 19, he wrote the Pourth Assistant Postmaster General that there was a determined effort of the people to make the postmaster resign On September 19, he wrote the Pourth Assistant Postmaster General that there was a determined effort of the people to make the postmaster resign or give up the office in some way, because she is colored, and requesting that his application be remembered. On October 9, Weeks wrote the President that he had the assurance of Minnie Cox, the postmaster, "that she will forward her resignation in the next few days," and presenting his own application, on the ground that he was the only white Republican at Indianois. On December 12, he wrote the President that he would be glad to come to Washington so that it could be seen how competent he is. Six days later he wrote that he was the only good friend the administration has among the white people of Indianola, and later he forwarded a petition of colored citizens of Indianola and vicinity in behalf of his appointment. On January 1, he wrote the President that the postmaster has absendend the office; pressed his claims for the appointment and said that he would be stad to have the President when appointment and said that he would the omce; pressed his claims for the appointment and said that he would be glad to have the President wire him to qualify. Later he wrote the President twice asking that the postoffice be established, stating that Minnie Cox would not take charge of the office again and urging his own appointment. The papers also show that several other candidates, notably John Sharkey Montgonery. Mrs. R. D. Wattz, Miss Mark Micks Hogan and Mrs. Lillian Groen, applied for the office in October on the understanding that Minnie Cox had tendered, or was about to tender, her resignation. Inspector Fitzgerald, on December 15, submitted a detailed report relative to the circumstances which, cause the people of Indianola to order W. W. Cox, a railway postal cierk, and two other persons, to leave that place, presumably on account of their color.

Pheumacide The Standard Rheumatic Remedy.

STANDARD because able physicians declare that it is the only absolute cure for rheumatism in its various forms. A prominent physician recently said: "I have never been able to write a prescription that will cure rheumatism, owing to the fact that the usual remedies do incalculable harm to the digrative organs. RHEUMACIDE completely overcomes this difficulty—benefits rather than injures the organs of digration—hence it can be taken for an indefinite period, or as long as need be, to effect a permanent cure."

Tired Mother's Touching Story of Anxiety and Suffering.

Cuticura Brings Blessed Cure to Skin Tortured Baby and Peace and Rest to Its Worn Out Mother.

It is no wonder that Mrs. Helena Rath was taken sick. Single-handed, she did all the housework and washed, cooked and mended for her husband, Hans, and their six children. After a plucky fight to keep on her feet, Mrs. Rath had to yield, and early in 1902 she took to her bed. What followed she told to a visitor, who called at her tidy home, No. 821 Tenth Avc., New York City. "I hired a girl to mind the chil-iren and to do whatever clae slic cold. I couldn't stay in bed long. slick as I was, it was easier for ms "I wouldn't have believed that "I hired a girl to mind the children and to do whatever else she could. I couldn't stay in bed long. Sick as I was, it was easier for me to crawl around than to lie and worry about my little ones. So I got up after a few days, and let the girl go. I had noticed that she had sores on her face, hands and arms, but I paid no attention to that until Charlie, my youngest, began to plea and meratch himself. He was then ten mouths old, and the girl had paid more attention to him than to any of the others. Charlie was fret-then ten months old, and the girl had paid more attention to him than to any of the others. Charlie was fretful and cross, but as he was cutting teeth, I didn't think much of that. Eves whem a rash broke out on his face I wasn't frightened, because everybody knows that that is quite common with teething babies. Severybody knows that that is quite common with teething babies. Severybody knows that that is quite common with teething babies. Several of my others had it when little, and I thought nothing about it.

"But the rash on Charlie's poor little face spread to his neck, chest, and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before. The skin rose in little lumps, and matter came out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did suffer! He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, work as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and noy back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those masty sores.

"I believed he had eaught some disease from the girl, but some of the naireburne sait had demontant.

"I believed he had eaught some disease from the girl, but some of the neighbors said he had enseme, and that is not catching, they told me. Yes, I gave him medicine, and put mives and things on him. I don't think they were all nucless. Once in a while the Itching seemed to let up a bit, but there was not much change for the better until a lady seroes the street asked me why I didn't try the Cuticura Remedica. I told her I had no faith in those things you read about in the papers. She said she didn't want me to go on faith nor even to spend any money at first. She gave me some Cuticura Cintment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed.

"I wouldn't have believed that my haby would have been cured by a little thing like that. Not all of a sudden, mind you. Little by little, but so surely. Charlie and I both got more peace by day, and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away. I shall never forget one blessed night when I went to bed with Charlie besides me, as soon as I got the supper me, as soon as I got the supper dishes out of the way and the older children undressed; when I woke up the sun was streaming in. For the first time in six months I had alspt through the night without a break.

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Caticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and also the Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with siek babies, go shead and publish what I have told you."

MES. HELENA RATH.

The agonizing, itching, and burning of the skin as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in paoriasis; the loss of hair, and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and suit rheum,-all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.
