P. C. TATHAM KILLED
Darrington, Wash.—The friends and relatives of P. C. Tatham were shocked to learn of his death, which occurred at the result of being crushed by a falling log, at the McNeil Logging Company's camp, at Concrete, on the Upper Skagit.

Mr. Tatham was operating the levers, to load a car with logs, when he accidentally stepped in the path of a huge log, which was being hauled in, and was struck down. He suffered a broken back and crushed leg and injuries about the head, from which he died, before medical aid could reach him.

Mr. Tatham came to this country at the age of twenty-eight and engaged in the business of logging, for several years. Then he returned to his birthplace, Webster, North Carolina, in 1906, where he married Miss Burdell Stillwell. He returned, shortly, to Oso, his bride following him within a few months. Here they lived for twelve years and one son Claude was born to them. They visited Webster again in 1918 and while there Mrs. Tatham died. Mr. Tatham returned to Darrington after a year. He made one other trip to Webster and since then has made his home, with his little son, at Hamilton, Wash.

Besides his son, Mr. Tatham is survived by four brothers, Robert and John, of Darrington, Wash., Daniel, of Everett, Wash., and Charles, of Young Harris, Ga., and one sister, Mrs. John Buchanan, of Gay, North Carolina.

Scores of friends from different parts of Western Washington attended the funeral services, which were held at the Higley Undertaking chapel, in Sedro Woolley, Sunday August 26, at two o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Steele, of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Sedro Woolley, preached a short sermon from I Samuel 20:3, and read the eighth Psalm.

Two ladies sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Face To Face". The floral offerings were surpassingly lovely and profuse.

Mr. Tatham was buried in the Sedro Woolley cemetery, beside his nephew, Clinton Tatham.

ADVERTISING RATES
A committee of the National Editorial Association has been investigating the production costs of weekly newspapers and has made recommendation of the advertising rates country newspapers should charge, based upon these production costs. The rates recommended are printed herewith. They will prove of interest to advertisers who enjoy a rate of much less per inch than they would pay if this newspaper adopted the National Editorial Association scale. Here are the association rates:

Circulation	Rate
500 or less	25 cents
1000 or less	30
1500 or less	35
2000 or less	40
2500 or less	45
3000 or less	48
3500 or less	51
4000 or less	56
5000 or less	60

The circulation of the Journal is 2000. Our advertising rates, local are 25 cents. In this paper the local people, who patronize the best advertising medium in all this Western region of North Carolina, get their advertising at 15 cents an inch less than the National Editorial Association scale, and at a lower price than these men who know say it can be done for.

AN APPRECIATION
I desire to express my thanks and appreciation of the friends who helped me to win the $100 in gold in the Jackson County Journal's Salesmanship Club Campaign; and to thank our Journal and the campaign manager. I deeply appreciate the support my friends gave me.
MRS. P. W. KINCAID.

THE PIEDMONT LYCEUM BUREAU presents

The Shamrock Trio

in

A delightful program of Irish folk songs and music presented in the form of solos, duets, etc., as well as instrumental selections, whistling and yodeling. Altogether the program will be just a bit of the old sod.

Mr. Moffett, of the Shamrock Trio, is one of the younger entertainers, but has already won for himself an enviable position on the Lyceum platform. He is ably assisted by two Irish young ladies, one of whom will introduce the Irish harp, and an evening of very rare entertainment is waiting for those who hear this splendid and captivating company.
