THE ROTARY WHEEL

(By John Parris, Jr.)

A great meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Jarrett Springs Hotel. In the past several months that I have had the pleasure of attending the Rotary meetings, Tuesday night was by far the best, in my estimation. And I believe that every Rotarian feels that it was a great meeting.

Mrs. Lena Hunt, a Rotary Ann came down from Cullowhee to give the Rotarians a program that was worth listening to, I'm telling you. Along with Mrs. Hunt was her husband, known to the members of the Sylva Club as "Bill" and Jeffrie Freeman, a student at W. C. T. C. This trio gave a great program with Mrs. Hunt playing the violin; Mr. Freeman playing a clarinet, and with Mr. Hunt at the piano. Several selections were played, and the audience enjoyed them immensely.

Franklin Rotarians seem to like the Sylva Club very much. When they have a meeting to make up they turn their ears toward the Jarrett Springs Hotel on Tuesday night, and are on time, too. Those attending Tuesday evening included a Rotary Ann and three Rotarians, who were Mr. and Mrs. John Byrnes, Earl Lancaster, and Earl Meacham.

Other visitors included Winston Barrett, of Philadelphia, Penn., who is visiting Gilbert Heynor; Charles Robinson, of East La Porte, and Dr. Hawkins, of Cherokee.

And it is a glad welcome to a new Rotarian, A. M. Adams, of Cherokee. It is with pleasure that I write this bit of good news. The whole Rotary Club welcomes you, Allen.

O, yes, there were 30 present at the meeting. But Mrs. Jarrett was not lacking on the food. I had been hearing about the fine dinners that were served the Rotarians, and had had only one chance of being a guest until a few months ago. But now I am lucky enough to sit between White Mease and Dr. Chapman. I beg your pardon Dr. Chapman, I had no idea of mentioning your name. This column seems to pick on Dr. Chapman a little too much, but it won't happen again—not for a week at least.

You should hear the new song that the Rotarians have learned. Ellis Vestal, Bill Hunt, Ernest Bird, and Ty Hunter can certainly give a good account of themselves when they sing it. Maybe they will sing for you some time.

So long, until next week.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

Illiteracy . . . Declines Here
There are still more than 4,000,000 Americans over ten years old who cannot read and write, the National Advisory Committee in illiteracy reports. That is 600,000 fewer than ten years ago. Georgia has more illiterates than any other state, some 300,000, while Wyoming has the fewest, only 3,000.

Considering that at the beginning of our national life hardly more than one person in ten knew how to read and write, that only within my own memory practically no Negro or Indian could read or write, and that school attendance was not compulsory anywhere in America when I was a boy, it seems to me we have gone a long way in raising the standard of education to the point where ninety-seven people out of every hundred are able to read.

The important question, however, is: "What do they read?" Having taught them to read, it seems to me we might devote the next hundred years to improving their tastes in reading.

Scrap . . . The Stamp Idea
The latest thing in the form of money is called "stamped scrip." The idea originated in Germany and has been adopted in a number of American cities, to make money circulate faster.

In Evanston, Illinois, they work the scheme this way: The local retail merchants' association put $5,000 in a bank. Then it issued 5,000 scrip dollars, each one of them good for a dollar at the bank if presented within a week. But after one week it was only good if it had a special two-cent trading stamp pasted on it. Nobody but the merchants had these stamps. You have to spend the dollar at a store to make it good. The next week another stamp has to be put on it, and so on for a year.

This makes each of these scrip dollars turn over fifty-two times a year, because anyone who holds one of them has to pay two cents a week for the privilege of holding it, or lose his original dollar.

Our principal money trouble is not a shortage of money but the fact that it is not moving fast enough. This scrip plan is said to be working well in the towns that have tried it.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS ARE BEING MADE AT FAIRFIELD

1896, the new company being known as the Toxaway Company, which in turn purchased several thousand acres of additional land and began the erection of Fairfield Inn and cottages, the main building having 75 rooms.

Among the guests of the first season, 1898, were several capitalists of Pittsburg, among them being J. L. Hays, C. H. Stolzenbach, E. H. Jennings, an oil magnate, became interested in this section of the country and soon became the principal stockholder of the Toxaway company.

Through the influence of Jennings and Stolzenbach, northern capitalists were interested in building Lake Toxaway, and extending the Transylvania Railroad from Brevard to Lake Toxaway.

In 1910, Jennings, a large holder in the development company that was in control of all the properties of that section became sole owner, having purchased all outstanding bond issues. He became owner of Lake Toxaway Hotel and lake, his estate comprising 27,000 acres, which was for years one of the most widely advertised resorts in the United States.

The section was known as the "Sapphire country," "Lake Region of the South," "Switzerland of America," etc., and at that time included the largest artificial lake above 2,000 feet elevation in the world.

During the summer season, six regular Pullman trains and at times as many as a dozen in one day traveled over the Transylvania Railroad, bringing the elite of the United States to the famed Lake Toxaway hotel, which contained 350 rooms.

The lake, with a shore line of 15 miles, went out in 1916, and caused Transylvania county's greatest loss since Lake Toxaway was the recognized market for better farm and garden products, and employed many persons in the operation of its interests.

Lake Toxaway hotel has been kept in a good state of repair, and hope is held that it will be rebuilt in the near future.

of 100,000 can easily gather. The oath will be administered, as usual, by the Chief Justice of the United States, attired in his robes of office, and some picturesque color will be added to the scene by the brilliant full-dress uniforms of the members of the diplomatic corps, and high officers of the army, navy and marines.

Look for Farm Veto

The domestic allotment farm relief bill will probably be passed by Congress, and the expectation is that it will be vetoed by President Hoover. That is expected for two or three reasons. First, it is out of line with all of his recommendations and beliefs in the matter of farm relief. Second, it is understood to be Mr. Roosevelt's pet measure, and the President's attitude is that he would rather have Mr. Roosevelt handle it. If it is passed promptly and the President vetoes it, it may be possible to muster a sufficient vote in both Houses to re-enact it over his veto, but the outlook is that there will not be time to do that before the present session comes to its legal end at noon on March 4th.

STATEMENT BY GAME WARDEN

It has been circulated in some sections of this County that there is no longer a County Game Warden for this County. That I have been called from the work by the State Department.

This statement is without foundation and has been hatched up by some one who wished to evade the rules and regulations as laid out by the State Game and Fish Commission.

I am on the job every day and mean to see to it to the best of my ability and according to my oath of office that these laws are respected by every citizen of Jackson County regardless of color.

Signed: MACK ASHE,
County Game Warden.
