She laughed behind her charmage pagne glass. "It was something didn't expect," she said.

They strolled out of the dining room and took two 'rickshawa to Jade Street. At last they went int the tiniest and blackest of all the shops, and a wrinkled old Chines came forward to ask in a squeal: voice, what they wanted. She es plained that she wanted a jedbracelet, very rare, very choice. The man studied her with attention then he closed his shutters and holted his door.

"I show you something very rare missie," he said, moving majestic ally through the small square of the shop. He pried at the drawer of a lacquer chest, which sprang one and revealed an inner compartmen! Angela fancied she caught a gleat in the whites of his eyes. His tite gers moved mysteriously at the back of the clest, pressing on secre springs till he reached a long black case. "Mr. Charlton!" she mumbled. "My dearl" said Dick, catching her in a firm and sustaining grip and laughing at himself for a fool. He turned her face up, dripping with tears. He saw her drenched eyes and the eager, tremulous curve of Her lips. Bending over, he kissed her so slowly and thoroughly that she fainted against his chest. With a quick surge of concern he put her back in her chair and bent over her, wondering what he could do to revive her, but he saw that her hysteria had been wiped out in a deadly wave of inertia.

After a while she got up and scuttled along deck without a word -a ridiculous figure, with ridiculous skirts, flying towards the companionway. She had called him Mr. Charlton, even when he had kissed her! Dick wiped the sweat from his brow. Never again! He regretted everything that had happened, everything from the very beginning. This had been different from all his other experiences; it left him with a selfdisgust. He was strangely touched, thinking of Miss Mudge's lonely in love with a girl of seventeen, and pillow.
