ties, Gallop probably claims that hi, was the straw that broke the ele plant's back.

The Publishers Autocaster Service eaght to east 'er more eareful ye over the country, if it conducts an other poll.

We sincerely trust that the outcome of the election will end the straw vote eraze. Such polls serve no good purpose. They are often misleading, and are, we suspect, used as political propaganda, sometimes bedouding the issues that are before the people for determination. This time the Literary Digest poll, heretofore believed to b the most trustworthy of the straw ballots, was so wide of the mark, the it must have discredited the whole procedure.

WHITHER NOW?

The complete triumph of the Demeratic party on Tuesday, when it literally swopt the country from coast to coast and from border to border, places in that party's handthe greatest amount of power ever cutrusted to a political party by an American electorate.

With that victory and that power goes also an increased and humbling

If the party meets the responsibility as it should, its lease on power to more or less degree seems assured for years to come. If it fails to measure up to the standard that the Amcrican people have set for a great national party to administer their affairs, it will go down in defeat and another will take its place.

The first thing for the officials all the way from the President down to realize is that they are the officials of all the people, Democrats and Republicans alike. The surest way for the party to continue in power : to act upon that hypothesis.

They should seek to serve all th. people, rich and poor, farmer and laborer, manufacturer and buyer, banker and depositor. It is, we believe, because the people felt that this has been the attitude of the present Administration, that they have returned it to power with so overwhelm ing a vote of confidence

Another thing to be taken into con ideration is that great power is some rimes dangerous, and that a minority must be given an opportunity to speak its opposition. There must be no gag rule either in Congress, in State Legislatures, or at the hallot hox. Obstructionist tactics should not he permitted; but the minority must be given to feel that its voice can be heard, that it is treated generously, and that it is not steam-rollered into silence. Such tactics as that were attributed to the Republican party in its stronghold of Pennsylvania, and aroused such an increasing resentment among all classes of the p ople there that they finally turned upon in and drove it from power. A lesson is there for all parties. To take the other course is not only fair and just; it is also good sense and good polities.

The Democrats should be careful that no resentment is aroused against them by reason of a feeling of unfair tactics. The people have given them a tan million majority vote of confidence, and, if the party expects to continue in power over a long period of years, as it did in the days of Jackson, that respect and confidence must be held at all hazards.

tiraly on British soil, there will be a largo financial return to the American mufacturers who own these pitents Alto it is possible, in case the Start Department should hold that it would be improper for American factories to build bombing planes even for a pation which is not at war, that more of these factories will establish Canadian branches.

There is no question whatever in the minds of the best informed people in Washington that a great European war is imminent and that it will find he lineup very much as it was at the eginning of the World War. At that ime it was Germany and Austria against practically all the rest of Surope. In the beginning, Russia was ighting Germany on the Eastern Front and Italy stayed out of the war for nearly a year. Precisely that is what is unticipated now. There is a endency here to discredit the reports I Russian's military strength. For a year the Russians have been industriougly circulating the report that they have the largest and best disciplined army, completely equipped, that ever xisted, and that they have been ouilding military airplanes even fastr than Germany. For a while Russia had the rest of the world pretty bady seared, but lately the feeling relected in the State Department, which , of course, in close touch with all he governments of the world, is that here is much more smoke than fire n the Russian menace.

It was the belief of the father of andern socialism that there is an instinctive class solidarity which tus more power to move men in the mas than any other human emotion. That this is not true has been demonstrated whenever a nation has had to face a crisis in its affairs. Under such conditions class distinctions van ish and national feeling takes precedence over class feeling.

Something like that is happening oday in Russia, where the largest experiment in socialism has been going on for 18 years. The Russian people are losing their class conscious--mas and gaining a national or patriie consciousness.
